Dist. 34 expels AUGS student for alcohol use

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch School District 34's zero-tolerance drug and alcohol policy claimed its second student since the program began nearly two years ago.

According to Superintendent Dr. Donald Skidmore, an Antioch Upper Grade School student received disciplinary action from the Dist. 34 School Board at a special board meeting. The board action included expulsion from school for the remainder of this term for the student who brought alcohol in a Thermos onto a school bus and passed it around to other students.

"We are sorry when this happens," said Dr. Dan Burke, assistant superintendent for Dist. 34. "But we are proud to say in Dist. 34 that it happens very infrequently."

The policy, which began on Feb. 20, 1990, outlines the district's zero-tolerance of drug or alcohol use by students while on school grounds or at school sponsored events. Students are also prohibited from appearing on school property or at any school sponsored event while under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

According to Burke, the policy outlines what the principals, school administration and parents are to do in the event a drug or alcohol event occurs within the district.

Once the school board rules to expel a student, according to Burke, the student remains expelled for the rest of the term, with an opportunity to return to the school the next term if the student and his

Antioch Explorers receive donation

The Antioch Explorer Post, sponsored by the Antioch Police Department, received a $300 donation from the Antioch Chamber of Commerce for its support role during the annual Taste of Antioch celebration.

According to Antioch Police Sgt. and Explorer Volunteer Leader Ron Roth, the donation was made by 1992 Taste Chairman Frank DiMarco for the post's role as volunteer security at the event.

The Explorer program is for young men and women interested in law enforcement. The Antioch post often provides support at special events for the village.

The non-profit organization is funded by donations only. Interested individuals and monetary donors should call Roth at the Antioch Police Department at 395-8585.

Slim Billy needs a break

Billy is a slim short-haired Doberman/terrier mix. It is a cause for sadness, that this black/tan three-year-old neutered male has been at the shelter since May of 1991.

Billy's scruffy terrier coat and dobe face and body give him a pleasantly unique appearance. Billy is an exuberant dog—very affectionate, playful, and he gets along well with other dogs. He is a healthy, smart, extremely trainable dog who will be a loyal companion. A very special heart beats inside of Billy—after 18 long months, he still hasn't lost his love for life. He desperately needs someone who will give him a commitment of love, time, training, and the home he deserves that has eluded him for so long.

Billy can be yours for a $55 donation which includes free spay/neuter, collar, leash, first shots and more.

Son joins father on basketball team

NORTH CHICAGO—Kyle and Dennis Kessel of Mundelein's reign as the lone father-son combination in Lake County basketball may be coming to an end. When North Chicago's boys basketball team visits Zion-Benton Dec. 18, it could mark the beginning of the Joe Walls Sr., Joe Walls Jr. era. The rookie North Chicago coach's son could be in the starting lineup when the Warhawks clash with the Zee-Bees. North Chicago is 2-5 on the year, 2-2 in the NSC after beating Mundelein and Antioch.

Bar fined $2000 for lingerie shows

VERNON HILLS — Two lingerie fashion shows held at Sluggers Sports Bar & Grill in November cost that bar $2,000 in fines from the Vernon Hills Liquor Commission.

The Liquor Commission ruled that the shows which included raffles for lingerie, X-rated videotapes and a whip were against the village code on gambling.

Bond set for a man who stabbed his wife

WAUCONDA — The bond for a Wauconda man charged with attempted murder was changed from $150,000 to $500,000 cash, according to police officials. Wauconda Police Chief Andrew Mayor said Monday that Daniel Serbedzija, 42, who was charged with attempted murder after he allegedly stabbed his wife in the neck, will not have a preliminary hearing, but will go straight to a grand jury trial. ## Race related incident spurs speaker to LHS

LIBERTYVILLE — After a racial incident which left three upperclassmen suspended for 10 days, students at Libertyville High School circulated a petition requesting and demanding that the Student Council take action to educate the student body about racism and discrimination. The three youths, all 17-years-old whom school officials will keep unnamed, were discovered after concerned students brought the matter to the attention of assistant principals. Upon investigations, the school found a newsletter containing racial slurs and white supremacist themes. A membership list containing about 25 names was included. District 128 Superintendent Donald L. Gossett agreed that an assembly was in order. But said he was not aware of the students' petition. He is currently working with the Anti-Defamation League to set up a school assembly to further educate the students and assure everyone of their safety.

Atkinson Rd. work will begin in spring

GRAYSLAKE—The Village of Grayslake has obtained federal funds for improvements to Atkinson Rd. The federal government will pay 70 percent of the $1,731,800 project. ## Great Lakes NTC solves two crimes

GREAT LAKES — The Naval Investigative Service, Great Lakes, with the help of the Great Lakes Police Dept., has solved two of the recent crimes perpetrated on federal property.

According to NIS Agent Tim Quick, Scott Peters of Sand Springs, Okla., has confessed to vandalizing 25 cars in Forrestal Village and stealing electronic equipment from those cars. Peters also told NIS agents that he stole a jeep that same night. The jeep was recovered the next day, parked in front of the North Chicago Motel. Peters confessed to the crimes on Nov. 13, and on Nov. 16 he disappeared. He is now wanted by federal authorities for the burglaries, and also for desertion from the Navy.

Granny names

As people are living longer and longer, many children are blessed with more than one grandmother. In order to distinguish one granny from the other, grandmothers are often given special identification names along with the title grandma.

For example, when I was a child, only my mother's mother was alive so we just called her grandma. On the other hand my husband had a grandma Miller and a grandma Schmehl. Later my daughters had a grandma Parenti, Grandma Miller, Grandma Schmehl and Grandma Mary.

Many of our Camp Crayon little ones have several grandmothers and here are some of the granny labels we have heard.

Will the real granny whoever please stand up—Kitty Grandma (she has a lot of cats), Grandma Biscuit (her dog's name), Grandma Florida (her state), Shadow Grandmother (after her dog), Grandma Tootsie Roll (her name is Tootsie), Grandma with Max (her dog), and Grandma Elevator (use the elevator when visiting her). Finally there is the

she will have many choices—Granny Raccoon (guess why), Granny Luigi (after raccoon), Fat Granny (I'm slightly plump), Senile Grandma (can't imagine why), Spelling Grandma (obvious reasons), On the Lake Grandma (two lake homes), One Arm Bandit Granny (Casino favorite), Gambling Granny (many reasons).

Smart Granny (maybe I can brain wash her), Watermelon Grandma (my favorite), Butterfingers Grandma (yummy), or Granny Lizard (column notoriety). Actually my daughter Donna thinks she may call me Pig Grandma (because I save coins in pigs to give to her and others). If I get to pick, I'd like to be called Spoiling Grandma (because where Alyssa is concerned that is what I enjoy doing the most).

Thank you

I would like to thank all of Celia Bennett's Antioch friends and neighbors for making her 50th birthday card group mailing a huge success. I called her on her birthday and she was overwhelmed when her mailbox held many cards with special notes in celebration of this milestone birthday.

Ready

Well, folks, just one more short week and Santa Claus will be climbing down those chimneys while the little ones are "nestled in their beds." Is your holiday baking all done? Is your house squeaky clean? Is your tree brightly decorated and are "the stockings hung by the chimney with care?"

Are all those packages ready for Santa's sack?

Putting all of the above aside, remember Christmas is a special time of year which basically reminds us to count and celebrate our blessings as we celebrate the birth of Christ.

So take a moment in between the commercial hustle and bustle of this holiday season to enjoy and appreciate those special people sharing the holiday with you.

"Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night!"

Fairchild's Antioch stroll concludes as holidays near

Editor's note: Russ Fairchild, retired Antioch postal carrier, is a keen observer of Antioch activities as he takes his walks around the village. Following is the last part of his annual Christmas stroll, a tradition in the Antioch-News Reporter.

Lakeside Restaurant—Bobby Fidanowski, proprietor

Well, another Christmas season is being ushered in by Bobby and Silvana.

Glenn Fox, Paul Zeien and the Effingers, John and Mildred, are at the counter. Charming "Welcome Mat" Realtor Addie Goodrich is talking to golfer George Ptak. Milton Tate drops in.

You can see the tempo hasn't changed much, and now here comes Richard Irman, Jim and Vickie Vermillion just here right after Mass.

Mary and Gene Hermand, two of my favorite neighbors, are being served in a wall booth by jolly Jeri Taylor.

Bill Pflaum, fine pianist, is checking his stack of mail as he relaxes in a window booth. And now hold on to your seats, as it's about time for the holdovers from "Footlights 1992" to be coming in. The front booths will be filled up by the very pleasant parishioners from St. Peter's parish.

Let's name a few. To wit: Vi Werda, Kathie Davis, Bob and Clare Kadera, Gert Lorenz, Lottie Vejvoda, the Lombardo's, Sam and Frances. However, they just pulled a switch, and both of them blessed the food. Georgiana Carey arrives in a cab. Marvelous Marilyn Edwards is their hostess.

Just in time to witness all this frivolity is a very well known and like restaurant owner from across town, Nick Jahja, proprietor of the beautiful Antioch Family Restaurant over on Rte. 173.

Ben Franklin Family Center—Don Marski, owner

Heigh ho, heigh ho! More changes: Tobacco, cigarettes, etc., moved from the rear to the left of front doors, Janice Hamilton presiding.

Over in greeting cards, I meet Marge Sette and popular, well-loved manager of the Antioch Senior Center, recuperating from a serious illness in St. Therese Hospital, Marcie Marcucci. It's great to see her around again!

Sue Glenn over in arts and crafts, and busy as always.

Popular Police Chief Chuck Miller, chatting with Don Marski on his rounds, over in books and magazines.

Minnie Pratt walking through frames and pictures, capably supervised by Dawn Dunham. Jean Kosar up in office.

Bob Obenauf, chief honcho, always on the go, a valuable and pleasant person in so many ways. Striving for the continued success of Ben Franklin's, now assisting customer Vera Mair.

All the expletives above also apply fully to Manager Cindy Kaat, another valuable asset, always ready to aid a shopper like Eva Ziel.

Mary Anichini, a lovely lady who, years ago, ran the food concession in "The change in personnel, and if I don't see someone, I'll nevertheless mention their name. Like Jeanine Kasprowicz, who transferred downstairs.

How about Marcia King? Chris Martin? I know Denise Wells is a supervisor and Connie Anichini is very active. Also my good friend Tom Cody, who should have his own office.

Debra Lowery, Linda Haffner or Deb Saylor. Kathy Wertz, Diane Periman or Norma Kane. I hope they're all well and happy.

Now I'm nearing the rear of the bank and that means either one of two fine friends are at their post at the information desk: Beverly Rzyso or Barbara Christensen, where I always receive a warm welcome, whether I'm broke or not.

I miss Carl Wurster. He's probably over at the post office. Haven't seen Hank Apostol for quite some time. Let's digress back to June 1980, when Hank's eighth grade daughter Julie, from St. Peter's School, wrote the winning article on the "Greatest Dad of the Year" sponsored by Antioch Chamber of Commerce. It also made front page of the Antioch News with Hank and Julie.

Yellow Bird—new owners Mary and Chuck Schutt

On the outskirts of town, to Channel Lake, is the polka palace of...oops...Mary and Chuck Schutt! You'll like them! Real fine folks.

Vi and Al will be present at times, just like old times, because the Schutt's like it that way. And the Yellow Bird will be open more often, and sometimes later. This is an arrangement made in heaven.

There'll be polka bands and entertainers like always: Hot Nuts Ron and his Polka Originals, Stephan, Ernie Stetz, Bill Stutz, Uncle Jess and the Stardusters, Barbara Flannum and the Karousels, Ed Broniecki and his cordovox. Visiting personalities of the stature of Eddie Korosa from his Baby Doll Tavern in Chicago. John Hynzy and Laurie from the Personality Lounge on Archer Ave., and Vi herself!

For auld lang syne

Well folks, I hope you were right along with me, on this, "The Last Stroll of 1992." Perhaps we'll meet sometime at the Yellow Bird, and Lord willing, we shall all pass this way again.

Enjoy your holidays.

Another Christmas Stroll Through Town

Pantry." What nice memories.

I just got the sad word that Barbara Bailey, a veteran employee, has left. We shall all miss her smiling face.

Martha Sturm browsing through the beautiful Christmas trees. Speaking of employee seniority, I believe Pearl Leatherberry now has that distinction. She has seen more holidays come and go, and yet they seem to agree with her. This lovely person, admired and respected by all. However, you can chalk a lot of this up to the realization that she was employed by a special person also, Don Marski. I rest my case. God bless you all, too, for your treatment to me down through the years. I appreciate it. "Happy holidays."

State Bank of Antioch—Randy Miles, president

This beautiful establishment has a real Christmas spirit, but then, that seems to be the atmosphere all year long, especially with pleasant folks like Wally Jaskowski present.

Also, Roger Manderscheid, who more or less, keeps a sharp eye out for anything and everything, including me.

I wave over to Carolyn Blanchette, trust officer, and then there's Flo Babusek, a pretty lady of many talents. Betty Sutcliffe and Neila Hopkins.

Jean Rockow, a dear friend for many years, busy with clients in her office, as usual.

Now, I'm aware at times, that there's a

CLC

CLC Community College District 532.

Lake Zurich High School's enrollment increased nearly 10 percent to 1,161 students, while Adlai Stevenson High School experienced a nine percent increase to 2,425 students and Antioch Community High School jumped eight percent to 1,738 students.

Enrollment at ACHS during the 1991-92 school year was 1,639 students, with 364 seniors graduating last spring.

Of those graduating from ACHS, 158 chose to attend CLC during the Fall 1992 semester, which represents 43 percent of the graduating senior class.

during the holidays, to the material company from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tuscarora's EPS recycling program will be a permanent, year-round program.

"The holidays always generate a considerable amount of foam packaging," said Brian LaCourse, manufacturing manager at Tuscarora. "As a manufacturer of EPS foam packaging, we recognize our responsibility to ensure its proper disposal. That is why we want to encourage those who use our product to give it a second life through recycling."

According to LaCourse, the foam will be collected and ground up and used for toy fill and bean bags.

Expulsion

parents comply with the ruling of the board. This could include drug/alcohol counseling, at the family's expense.

While expelled, the student has two options to remain current with the semester's curriculum. One option is the student can be sent to an alternative school, at the school district's expense, until the student is ready to return to a Dist. 34 school. The other choice is a 5-hour-a-week tutoring program where one of the student's teachers come to the student's home and gives lessons and homework to the student.

The expelled AUGS student will use the tutoring program and could return to AUGS in mid-January when the school's second semester begins.

Skidmore informs all parents that a copy of the drug and alcohol policy is in the student handbook that parents received while registering their children in August.

"The school board wants all parents and students to know that alcohol and drug use will not be tolerated," said Skidmore.

Letter to the Editor

No explosion

Editor:

There is no enrollment explosion as the Antioch Community High School administration states. Actually, a drop in enrollment has occurred. Over five of the past 20 years, with an enrollment of 1,739 on Oct. 1, 1992, ACHS has seen a drop in enrollment, not an increase. Also, since the administration did not know what the national average ACT was, I will them. It was 20.6. The state average was 20.9. The Lake County average was 21.69. Antioch's average ACT score over the past 20 years is only 19.6. The administration's attempts to influence voters by using scare tactics and false information not only shows the administration's lack of commitment to education, but it also sends a clear message to the students. When the truth is not effective, just lie.

Build Your Own Sewer Plant

I'm calling and I'm very concerned about the annexation of the property east of Deep Lake Road in Antioch. The village is trying to annex that property so they can continue their sewer on. Lindenhurst is fighting to get its sewer on for this Abbott development. The question I have is what happened to the Lake County Sewage Plant that all villages were going to tie into? I don't want the Antioch sewer line going down Rte. 173 to Abbott. Also, will there be impact fees? All villages in this area have neglected to get impact fees from these developers throughout all of these years. If they had gotten $500 from each house that has gone up in the last 10 years, our schools wouldn't be in the position they are in. Those are two major concerns of mine. I am curious to know about the Lake County Sewage Plant, and if villages are to tie into that later. Abbott should have its own sewage treatment plant on its 950 acres. That would solve the problem.

Fox Lake Double Standard

I'm from Fox Lake. The Village of Fox Lake seems to think the county shouldn't pass a storm water ordinance. Why not? I find it a double standard that the village would object. They have every right, just as we have every right to impose an ordinance on our village. Maybe the county will enforce their ordinance better than Fox Lake Village Board or Building Dept.

Good Ol' Boy Complex

Here we go again with the "good ol' boy" syndrome — one great police chief fired because of it. Let's face it, he wasn't fired because of bank accounts or money acquired through drugs. If that were the reason, you would have been seen by the state's attorney immediately. You know it's because a relative of one of the good ol' boys was in trouble and being investigated, and you couldn't stop the chief to do his job. You waited for your chance and fired him. This is a terrible loss to the citizens of Lindenhurst. When I talk to students at Antioch High School they stated, and I quote, "You don't fool around with the cops in Lindenhurst, because they're everywhere. But the Antioch Police Dept., they're the laughing stock of Illinois." Citizens of Lindenhurst, if you were smart, you would be in force at the next meeting, screaming for the chief be reinstated. It sure was nice to see laws enforced, and clout stepped on for a change. If one of your family or relatives got in trouble, wouldn't it be nice to tell the chief, "Let him go or you'll get fired." Honestly, Mr. Mayor, you certainly made me think he did wrong.

What's The Purpose?

I would like to respond to the guns at school article by the Round Lake mother who wanted the principal of Round Lake High School to inform the residents of the number of guns found in the high school and the nationality of the students who had the guns. I must be missing something here. I can understand why she would want to know how many guns were confiscated, but I fail to see the reason why the principal would need to state the nationality of the gun carriers. It's this kind narrow-minded thinking that helps create setbacks for people of color. Prejudice is not something children are born with; it is taught. I hope that she has not taught her children that anyone of a different nationality carries a gun. I'm from North Chicago.

Heavy Issue Ahead

This is in response to "Overweight Diner" from the Dec. 4 issue. Get a clue. Do you realize the amount of stress that is put on a body, even a large-frame body, with 200, 300 or 400 pounds on it. You want an overweight diner, I've got one for you — we call it Weight Watchers. Try that one on for size.

Survey Is Waste Of Cash

Good morning. This is in response to the person who said the township survey is zilch. It seems obvious that when Grant Twp. sends out a survey, they have no intention of abiding the wishes of the public. Several years ago, a survey asked for opinions regarding moving the township office. Grant Twp. resident responded with a resounding 3 to 1 vote against moving the hall. A lot of good it did to respond. This current survey asked for opinions on a multi-purpose, recreational complex being built, after $75,000 has already been spent. If you look at the master plan, you will note that administrative offices are already shown as the complex master plan, even though township residents are against it. I suspect most township taxpayers are against the proposed recreational complex since the location is four to eight miles away from 80 percent of Grant Twp. population. Surely the children aren't going to walk or ride bikes to play soccer and football. The new location of the township offices will be hardship and unnecessary expense. We are being taxed out of our homes. I live in Ingleside, and this is the way my husband and I feel.

Ho! Ho! Ho! To Readers

'Tis the season to be jolly, and also a time to give thanks for your wonderful family, health and friends, loved ones and others. To all the readers of this newspaper, I wish them a very merry Christmas and very happy new year. Keep up the good work with the column.

Rte. 45 Needs Widening

I'm calling about the guy who wanted Rte. 22 widened. That's not the only street in the county that needs widening; Rte. 45 needs widening. From Seminary to Winchester it's only two lanes. What's the matter with Rte. 45? Last summer they were doing work on it, and they screwed up the intersection of Rte. 45 and Winchester. This year, they screwed up Rte. 45 and 137.

I Have and I Don't

This is a response to "Try It, You'll Like It." The person is a little frustrated that I drove through Fox Lake and Round Lake and didn't like what I saw. I was an Antioch resident for 25 years, and I've lived out of the area for 10 years. When I came back, I worked with people from those areas and they seem a heck of a lot different. If I had a choice of where to come back to live, it would be Antioch. I sure wouldn't come back to Round Lake or Fox Lake, even if I were forced.

Double Trouble For Mayor?

Isn't it ironic that the mayor of Hainesville, owner of the Avon Roach Motel, is also in charge of the building and zoning department? Those two hats you wear, Mr. Mayor, make you double-guilty for allowing the Roach Motel to greet all those people who travel through Hainesville.

Good Deal Is A Wash Out

It's common knowledge to the residents who live in William's Park, that a good part of William's Park is in a flood plain. Since we've been in a drought period for the last four or five years, it's amazing how many for sale signs went up and how many homes were sold. The people thought they had a good deal. Now the problem is that the rain is getting to near normal total levels, and those people are going to be in for a big shock.

Edgar And Fishing?

I'm from Antioch and I'm responding to "Trucks Don't Have Wings." I am also a former truck driver and senior citizen. I see that the trucks don't have wings. What does that have to do with fishing licenses and Gov. Jim Edgar? How long have you been living in Antioch? My taxes have already gone up 62 percent last year. I fought to have my property reassessed, and I won! Now you question patience? Yes! The politicians are putting a lot of money in their pockets. Wake up, sir! Wake up!

Wants Hotel In Fox Lake

There's one problem with the riverboat gambling deal in Fox Lake. Let's say I'm from out of town and I come to Fox Lake for a little gambling entertainment. If I'm going to spend any money in town, I'd probably want to stay overnight. Where am I going stay? Fox Lake needs a Super 8 or something.

Minority Not Surprised

Libertyville needs to wake up to the KKK and the village itself. I'm not surprised, being a minority living in this town. It's been going on for years. It just surfaced because somebody decided to wake up. Is the superintendent and the principal asleep? C'mon, it's been going on for years. The problem is here to stay.

They Are The Nicest People

I have just one thing to say about the articles that have been in this column. My husband and I are senior citizens and, where we live, we are practically surrounded by Hispanics. They are the nicest people I've

Riverboats' home

Fox Lake looms as home for riverboat casinos.

Riverboat casino gambling, unloved and shunned in sedate Barrington, likely will find a warmer reception upriver where having fun on or near the water is not only a light-hearted pursuit but a major industry.

It is more than a little surprising that cash-laden lawyers, who purportedly comprise the partnership dedicated to bringing the pleasures of riverboat casinos to Lake County, made their initial overtures to the horsy gentry rather than to Fox Lake leaders, for instance, who appreciate the importance of having a good time and know how to have fun. Chairman Glenn K. Seidenfeld and the riverboat investors insist that they are amateurs in the gambling business; obviously they also are amateurs when it comes to public relations and politics.

Now that the riverboat promoters have turned their attention northward as indicated by a meeting with commissioners of the Chain O'Lakes/Fox River Water Management Agency, it can at least be stated that they are headed in the right direction. Where they will land remains a mystery. Surely by now they must be aware of Fox Lake's interest in legalized gambling, an interest last expressed when operators of off-track betting (OTB) were looking for another northern Illinois outlet four years ago.

Gurnee put itself on the map by providing a home for a glittering amusement park. Vernon Hills came into existence and flourished catering to shopping centers. Fox Lake already has an established reputation for tourism and water recreation so providing a home for a couple of riverboat casinos, even if they resemble miniature aircraft carriers, is not out of the ordinary.

Impact fee assault

All sides should realize that impact fees are in the best interests of everyone.

Builders and developers are gathering forces to assault the impact fee system, now pretty universally accepted here and elsewhere as a means of getting those who share in the benefits of suburban growth to share public costs related to new housing. Proposed legislation known as the Illinois Infrastructure Expansion Act would create a state law that would enact guidelines to regulate how impact fees are assessed, collected and utilized.

The anti-impact fee bill is being advanced by the Home Builders Assn. of Illinois (HBAI) with support from such groups as the Illinois Assn. of Taxpayers and the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois. The bill is expected to come in for lively debate in the spring term of the General Assembly.

Stakes are high. Chicago Enterprise, published by the Civic Committee of the Commercial Club of Chicago, correctly points out that debate over the bill will provide a rare opportunity to rethink land use issues and who pays the cost of development. Not so surprisingly, state lawmakers don't like being put on the spot. They don't want to offend local officials or the builders and developers who finance political campaigns with hefty contributions.

Imposition of impact fees is a collar county phenomenon. Maybe that's why a downstate Democrat in the livestock and grain business is sponsoring the anti-impact fee bill. Chicago, on the basis that it already has infrastructure in place, is exempt. Chicago, other older cities and non-growth communities don't share the back-breaking problems of providing schools and other public services fostered by suburban growth and development.

Builders and developers are fighting the wrong battle in attempting to water-down the impact fee system, especially where schools are the biggest beneficiary. They are forgetting that schools are one of the major selling points for their product---sparkling new homes in crisply carved out new subdivisions.

Rather, the builders and developers should be directing their energies to support policies where it is more financially rewarding to rebuild cities than turning farm land into housing enclaves and strip malls. Professional planners on the regional level know this, but they either cave in or remain silent while the bulldozers transform the countryside.

Builders won't admit it and the public is only beginning to realize that without impact fees, taxpayers are subsidizing the development business. Carefully crafted and fairly administered impact fees are basically a means of sharing the wealth and in the best interests of everyone.

New calendar portends trouble in Springfield

by JOHN S. MATIJEVICH

For many years, the state of Illinois could be compared to the country. The governor's office, like the presidency, has been controlled by Democrats.

Democrats have been in the majority in the Senate for 20 years and also in the House of Representatives for 18 of those years. The only Democrat in the governor's office during that time was Dan Walker, who was followed by Jim Thompson for 14 years and Jim Edgar for the past two years.

It will be different in Washington with President-elect Bill Clinton and Democrats controlling both the Senate and the House. In Illinois, Republicans have captured the Senate, so Edgar will have more "legislative influence" than he had during the past biennium.

There is another major change that will affect the legislature. There will be a new adjournment date this year, May 31 rather than June 30. Let's call it a "target date," since the legislature has never adjourned on schedule. Actually, the legislative session days will be the same; it's just that they are trying to move everything up by 30 days. It's the idea of Sen. James "Pate" Philip, who will be the new Senate President. House Speaker Michael Madigan has gone along with it, but I'm sure that he has reservations about the plan working.

For one thing, it short-cuts the time when the governor is able to put together

Commentary

his budgetary figures. The interesting thing to watch is what happens if everything isn't finalized by the end of May. When things went into overtime in June, the governor's power was strengthened because bills to become immediately effective needed a three-fifths vote. That will no longer apply between May and June, so Speaker Madigan will still be a powerful force in the legislative process next year.

Moving up the date of adjournment may have one salutary result. The legislature has been accused, and probably (Continued on next page)

Bottom line on Cubs: yes, bucks matter

by BILL SCHROEDER

For a Cub follower who hatched a scheme last year to trade Ryne Sandberg, the loss of Greg Maddux and Andre Dawson is no big deal.

The way I had it figured, Ryno was worth about two starting pitchers, a right-handed power hitter and a couple of quality bench players. So who needs a glove man and an acknowledged streak hitter who has all the leadership qualities of a cashier at a hot-dog stand?

But back to Greg and Andre. Sentimentality is for sports writers and boobs who aren't acquainted with the finer points of baseball, which is to say the game's business aspects. All the blubbering about Maddux and Dawson not being understood or getting no respect is so much window dressing for the cheap seats. The fun of baseball these days is watching the moves in the accounting department.

Early on Tribune Co. management gave Cub minions the bottom line on Greg and Andre: They're worth a lot more to some other club than Chicago. So stand firm. A business decision. The Cubs can get half a team from the other goofies in baseball for two guys, good as they were, who never got the Cubs into a World Series. Besides, the extra cash left over will come in handy to buy a few more reporters for combat duty in the sticks of DuPage and Lake.

So Maddux signs up to pitch for Ted and Jane for about the same bucks the Tribune Co. bean counters were offering him. Only it wasn't really money the lad from Las Vegas was after. He wants to pitch for a winner. Can't blame him. And all along the Tribune propagandists were leading us to believe that Greg Maddux was a money-grubbing ingrate.

And Andre, the somber slugger from Florida, goes ambling off to Boston to take aim at the famed Green Monster. Does Andre have a few good years left? You bet he does, wobbly knees and all. I hope he burns up the league. Remember, it's the other league. You won't see him back in Wrigley Field.

Greg and Andre are history in Chicago. Cub fans who are feeling blue about their departure can tune in the Atlanta Super Channel or ESPN to follow their former heroes. That might result in a lot of station switching. Goodbye Channel 9. Do you suppose the Tribune moguls might have overlooked something?

ROLL-OVER REASON---Ray Plum, Lakeland Newspapers' ace photographer who makes more traffic accident scenes than the para-medics, has a theory why there are so many automobile roll-overs these days. When cars had boxier shapes, they simply turned over on their side upon the impact of a collision. Now they keep rolling because of the rounded tops. Makes sense.

SOME WEDDING---The Rev. Lisle J. Kauffman will savor for a long time the memory of officiating when Keith Lambert and Judy Noto tied the knot. "My biggest wedding---ever. About 18,000 in attendance," beamed the pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church of Round Lake. What a location. Center court at Chicago Stadium. What a setting. Half-time of a Chicago Bulls game. Bennie the Bull gave the bride away and Bulls announcer, All-American Johnny "Red" Kerr, was a groomsman. Michael Jordan and other Bulls luminaries led the well wishers after Kauffman intoned, "I now pronounce you man and wife." When Judy talked about having a different setting for their wedding, die-hard Bulls fan Keith had a ready suggestion. The rest is history.

EXCLUSIVE---Another upscale residential area is being developed in connection with Ivanhoe Club, a posh golf course layout west of Mundelein. The 18-hole, 7,089-yard course was established by former members of Thorngate Country Club of Deerfield. The club was built on the 225-acre estate of Haley and R.J. Smith, who reportedly planted every tree species known to grow in Illinois on the site which is bordered by Rte. 60 and 176. A nine-hole addition is scheduled to open in spring, the third season for the course. In case you're thinking about moving in, base prices for homes are $399,000 to $525,000.

Impact fee results in higher assessments

by JACK L. MARTIN

During the recent Lake County Board election, most of the losing candidates, financed and supported by the political pac C.O.D. (Curb Over Development), the major campaign issue was the demand for higher and higher impact fees from developers. Their losses cannot be blamed solely on this one issue but it does reveal their ignorance on the complex problem of impact fees and property tax assessments.

The losing C.O.D. candidates' ulterior motives were really attempts to hurt developers by attempting to make them pay additional fees to build their homes. C.O.D. assumes these higher fees would somehow stop development and home building. Obviously this does not occur. The only result of C.O.D.'s impact fee agenda is higher property taxes on their constituents.

I-RATE, the Libertyville Tax Watch group, has issued a position paper on property assessment for tax accountability that reveals developed and occupied property is not placed on the tax rolls for months and even years, thereby causing the remaining property owners to bear the cost for that unassessed property.

I-RATE's proposal is reasonable, fair and financially responsible and solves the tax lag issues more effectively for taxing bodies and with less tax burden on all property tax payers.

To accommodate the "Tax Lag," the political reaction has been a demand for impact fees and many have been implemented.

It is politically popular to make the developer pay impact fees, however that fee is just another cost of building a home. It is included in construction costs, a profit is added and the home buyer pays. The developer does not pay for anything—he manages capital and if successful, receives a profit.

The problem of the impact fee, if you thoroughly examine its complexity, is all property owners in the neighborhood, village and township have their assessments incrementally increased by the impact fee thereby causing innocent, long-time and senior residents to pay an "impact fee tax" hidden in their increased property assessment.

This is a classic case of politicians initializing a program where the impression is created the "other guy" is going to pay for all these costs and taxes, and later we find out that all taxpayers are adversely effected.

The taxpayer must understand the problem with all taxes, especially property taxes, is that all taxing bodies, especially the schools, are operating unchecked by the public and simply spend too much money.

Elected officials and boards generally lack the ability and the desire to trim and control their budgets and tax levies. Their solutions have been to raise taxes and cut services, not costs, and then blame the other taxing bodies for their inadequacies.

The County Board election campaign saw candidates supported by the political pac C.O.D.—Curb Over Development demanding these higher impact fees and at the same time opposing the proposed Lake County gasoline tax. They should have known, but did not, that the county gasoline tax is the only mechanism the county has to fund its required matching share of the county impact fee. Without a county gasoline tax, there will never be a county impact.

We all oppose taxes but the user fee concept of a county gasoline tax is a reasonable solution if Lake County is going to improve its roads.

Editor's note: Jack Martin is a Libertyville businessman and organizer of various taxation watchdog groups.

Legislature

rightly so, for introducing too heavy of a volume of bills. In the past, a great number of bills were introduced right before the "deadline." Many of the newcoming legislators, and there will be about 50 in the House alone, introduce their bills late because it takes them a while to learn the process. They will have to move much more quickly next year, even the incumbents. If the end result is that less bills will be introduced, the electorate can breathe a sigh of relief.

Of course, there is another side of looking at it. Many bills are introduced for special interests. At least, in the past, the bills were introduced "in the open" as bills and became a part of the committee process. There's no way that many of the special interests will be foreclosed from advancing their "agenda." So, will the volume of bills be reduced, but be replaced by "last-minute" amendments that can be even more dangerous? That could be disastrous.

The May adjournment, if it does work next year, then what happens in 1994? The legislators would have to be in Springfield as the primary election is being held. Now, if you believe that legislators are going to allow that to happen, then you believe in the "tooth-fairy."

No, they aren't going to allow a system where their opponents are "knocking on doors" while they are in Springfield "knocking themselves out." So, the new legislative schedule will either be a short-lived experiment or it will be something that they will use for the odd-numbered year of the biennium and revert to the "old schedule" during the second, or election, year of the biennium.

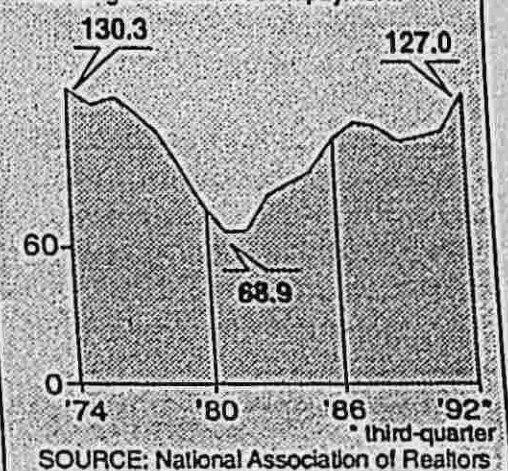

Scheduling of the legislative business is minor compared to the other problems that it must consider. Of course, the big one is where will the revenue come from to take care of the state's needs, particularly education?

Editors note: John Matijevich is concluding a quarter of a century of service in the general assembly, The Waukegan Democrat was defeated for reelection.

Fox Lake is where action was

BRING BACK SLOTS

More voices are being raised in support of riverboat gambling for the Fox Lake area.

One of them is Dr. William Dam. A hometown product, he returned to build a successful medical practice and serve a distinguished term as mayor. Today he is chairman of the Chain O' Lakes-Fox River Waterway Management Agency. "Nothing can happen on this part of the Fox River without our approval," he said of himself and the six-member board.

Gambling is okay, though. "It's a natural," he said. "It's part of our tradition." Fox Lake was the Flapper Era, rough and tumble days of Prohibition when Al Capone was a regular and the Big Band era when Glen Miller played here.

Slot machines were everywhere. "There was even one in the post office," Dam recalled. "My grandmother dropped a nickel in every time we went by. We shouldn't put on airs and pretend this isn't part of Fox Lake's history."

"I have no trouble with having a good time here rather than going to Las Vegas."

DEER REUNION

Pam Newton, the new County Board member in Dist. 18, has expanded her fan club by one member.

It's Davida Terry, who lost a $20,000 election last spring trying to gain the same job.

"I'll go to hell and back for Pam Newton," Terry said last week in a hugging and crying match at the parking lot of the Lloyd's Woods Forest Preserve near Mettawa.

Terry (the Deer Lady) was there to protest the proposed shooting of 18 deer to reduce the herd from 33. Using a new buzz word, one expert said the deer "impact the bio-diversity of the preserve." Newton was the only County Board member to show.

"I came here because I was elected to represent you," Terry quoted Newton as saying about her attendance. Both forgave and forgot in the parking lot afterwards.

How do you like that?"

HEALTHY PLACE

Hooray for Waukegan's Parkway restaurant!

For the first time in two years it passed the semi-annual Health Dept. inspection with flying colors. The late November score was 86 out of 100 points. For two years the landmark restaurant received marks in the 50-70 range.

Manager of the Parkway is Martin Paulson. He just happens to be the president of the Lake County Board of Health. That agency makes the inspections.

Paulson denies politics is involved. He says his father, Peter, is mostly responsible for this part of the restaurant.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

LIBERTYVILLE — Marv

Raymond, chairman of IRATE (Individuals for Responsible and Accountable Tax Equity) called about a Jack Martin article. IRATE was referred to as one of Martin's political action committees. Not true, Raymond said.

"Martin may have helped organize it, may contribute his ideas, but he is only one of 12 board members," Raymond said.

ROUND LAKE BEACH —

Trustee Don Portzen swears it is true.

Deer Point Trails is the name of a new 200-home subdivision rising on Rte. 120. Five days a week legendary rush-hour traffic backs up past the new development almost to Grayslake.

LIBERTYVILLE — Andrea Moore, the newly-elected state representative in the 61st Dist., will officially take office next month. Between now and they she is looking for a place to set up her local office. Guess she's been too busy playing president of the Forest Preserve Dist. GURNEE — New president of the Kenosha school board is Dennis Multinovich. Leader of a tax watchdog group, he won a Dec. 1 seat on the board by defeating former president Bill Nieman in a runoff election. Multinovich is a buyer at the Cherry Electric Corp. in the Gurnee Industrial Park. LIBERTYVILLE —

Recipients of some Lake County charities will have some good eating this winter. They will enjoy venison from 18 deer to be shot at the Lloyd's Woods and Wright's Woods forest preserves. Frank Drummond of the Lake County Forest Preserve said there should be 15 deer in the square mile preserve, not 33. Last year the Forest Preserve donated 2,400 pounds of venison to charity. The deer were taken in the Ryerson preserve and McArthur Woods. ROUND LAKE electing Cole Akins as mayor. They've since had a parting of the ways. Beyer now wants to straighten out what she considers the current mess (records, water bills, politics, etc.) in the village hall. FOX LAKE — The way this bi-county community is growing, it could become bi-state, too. Years ago Fox Lake grew west into McHenry County by annexing Sun Dial Farms. In recent months it has crept northward, past Rte. 173, almost to Gander Mountain. With a few more acres there could be two Fox Lake's in Wisconsin. The other is in central Wisconsin near Columbus.

Maybe if you didn't harp on it so much, things would be better. I say, let the people be, not matter what color, race or creed they are. I just had to say that after reading all those other comments. I had to get a little comment in. I'm a first-time caller. I also enjoy your service.

Jail-bound Teacher?

Children need loving and some discipline, but not by outsiders. You sound like a teacher. With your attitude and mentality, we're in trouble. As far as my children go, they are well established in businesses. One is a medical technician. He also goes out on calls, voluntarily. They are involved in civic township activity. I'm not going bother answering your next letter. I'll probably read about you like the priest who did too much gentle touching. I'm from Antioch.

'Family' video store isn't

I have a major problem with a video store on Rollins Road that has the word "family" in its name. If that store wants families to patronize it, how about getting all of the pornography off the shelf and into the garbage. How dare you call yourself a family video store. As far as my friends and I, we will boycott you unless you get more G movies and more movies for our families to watch.

Trees Gone, Not Forgotten

I'm a very sad person from Round Lake and I want to know why Round Lake cut down all those big, beautiful trees on Cedar Lake Road. It looks so terrible now; I can't stand it. I don't think Cedar Lake Road needs to be widened; there's not that much traffic. It's a sad day in Round Lake Beach.

Hello, Lipservice. I'm from Fox Lake and I would like to know why the school district is not interviewing for replacement teachers in light that the Fox Lake teachers are threatening to strike for more pay. Every school district should have a replacement program organized, so our children and grandchildren are not held hostage by unions. There are tons of young people who have teaching degrees out there who cannot find work and would love the opportunity. Thank you.

Justify Spending, Skidmore

I live in Lindenhurst, and I'd like the Dist. 34 superintendent in Antioch to justify these dollar amounts. How can you spend $1,300 less than the state per pupil, how can you pay your teachers $6,000 less than the state average, and yet justify spending $12,000 more than the state average on your own. I'd appreciate an answer to this, Dr. Skidmore.

Maybe It's Your Problem

This is in response to "Don't Display Junk." Listen, I'm a convenient store worker, and it's not displaying junk. Pornography is everywhere and can be found anywhere. I know in our convenient store, our magazines are on display, but also hidden by other books. We do card people who buy those. Maybe the problem is that you're too self conscious about these things.

Mr. Gregory Is A Star

I'm a student at Grayslake High School and I want to bring a star to our attention. The star is Mr. Gregory, an English teacher. Last week we had a fund raiser for all the poor people in Grayslake. A lot of people think there are no poor people in Grayslake. Well, there is. I was one of them. Mr. Gregory is a wonderful teacher and he helped us raise more than $1,000 for these people. Mr. Gregory, nor his class, will get credit for the money. It is given to the Lions Club, where they will use it to buy turkeys and other perishables that cannot be donated through schools. Thank you. I just want to say, good job. Happy holidays.

Save It For The Schools

Fox Lake is an excellent place for a riverboat casino. It is good that the taxes generated will be used for road improvements. The rest should go toward schools, not to forest preserve purchases. Real estate taxes have soared in recent years; we are being taxed out of our homes just so the forest preserve can operate big time, while education, lunch and athletic programs suffer. We need to support our most important need, schools.

Waste Of Tax Money

I just read that the United States is the world's biggest distributor of condoms to other countries. The United States handed out more than 849 million condoms worldwide last year. I don't think our tax money should be used like this. Feeding people in Somalia is OK. I don't think our tax money should be used for handing out condoms. I think we can find better uses for our tax money, like feeding people and putting clothes on them.

Why Expand Rte. 22?

I'm calling in response to the person who wants to expand Rte. 22. You don't patronize our stores, gas stations or businesses. All you do is drive through our towns and use our roads. Why should we expand our roads just to benefit that? If we're going to spend the money, how is it going to benefit us? You're crazy if you think we're going to spend all this money to widen Rte. 22 and not get anything from it.

Tough Luck, Atheists

I'm from Vernon Hills. I had to drive through Wauconda the other day and found your decorated crosses a wonderful sight. It is exemplary to see a town pull together and bond like that. I wish we had some of the same spirit out here. The sights were so beautiful that I took my family out to Wauconda this past weekend to see the crosses. They were just as amazed as I was. Thank you, Wauconda, for making our Christmas just a little bit brighter. It's nice to see an entire town slap an atheist across the face like that. Do you hear me, Mr. Sherman?

Where's The Alpine Village?

I lived in Lake Zurich about eight years ago. I came back to visit some friends for the holidays and was appalled to see what has happened to the "Alpine Village." It now looks like the neon and concrete jungle. I can't believe all of the building that has gone on since I left. I can't believe that the city fathers and residents have put up with all of this. How can you drive down the roads? Rte. 12 and downtown is a mess. When I left Lake Zurich, I was greatly saddened. When I came back, I was thrilled I no longer live there.

Women Want One Thing

Having been in the singles' scene for several years now, I've come to the realization that women are out for one thing — security. They want financially stable (rich) men with master's degrees (more income potential), good looks (studs) and great personality. I've got the last of those qualifications, however, a lot of women don't

Santa Claus exists in the heart of man

A long time ago a little girl named Virginia wrote a letter to the editor of the New York Sun, asking if there truly was a Santa Claus. In part, the editor's response was this: "He does exist. For he exists in the heart of man — nay, all men."

Anyone can don a red suit, a salt-and-pepper beard and call himself Santa. To "be" Santa, it takes an individual who maintains the true spirit of Christmas all year 'round. Charles Bista is such a person. The Christmas sparkle emanates from his eyes when he laughs with a "Ho, Ho, Ho!" The blinding North Pole snow shines from his teeth when he smiles at a 4-year-old girl asking for a Teen Barbie. A lot of people play Santa. This man is Christmas.

Becoming Santa is not something a person does by choice; it is a gift one accepts early in life.

Bista first assumed the role of St. Nick for his newborn niece, Julie, 20 years ago.

"Having no children of my own, I felt it was something I just had to do. I don't really know how the idea of being Santa came to me, it just did," Bista said.

After the first year or two of being Santa for Julie, Bista began spreading the cheer to others, especially disadvantaged and needy children. Working with the K-Mart Corporation, area schools and individual families, Bista has made Christmas brighter for thousands of children across the state.

"I've been seeing a family for years in Waukegan, long before the children were even walking. They don't have a lot, and this gives the children a wonderful gift," Bista recalled.

"About the third year I came to their home, I could see kids and parents throughout the neighborhood peering through their windows and doors, yelling 'Here he comes; here he comes.' I'd jingle the bells and watch all of them step out their front doors and wave."

Bista believes that the truest spirit of Christmas is the gift of giving. Giving of himself at all hours of the day is what he does best. His reward? The gentle smile and tiny sparkle in a child's eyes.

"I visited the home of a grandmother who was trying to make

Christmas very special for her grandchildren. They didn't have much, and the house was in pretty rough shape. The family was needy, and accepted the few things they had. When I walked through the front door and saw the children's faces, I knew that what they had most of in that family was love. I played with the children, the parents and grandparents laughed, it was a great time. After an hour or so, it was time for me to leave. The grandmother handed me $20 and said she was sorry, but it was all she could afford. I got half way to my car, turned around and walked back to the house, thinking that there was no way I could accept the money. She came to the door, asking if something was wrong. I handed her the $20 and said, 'This is Santa's gift to you this year.' I teared up on that one."

Bista always does his best to fulfill the wishes of everyone, but tells children if they don't receive that "special gift," there's always another Christmas and Santa will try harder. Those "special gifts"

by DAN BECKER

are often clothes, food, a new daddy or mommy, or a cure for an ill relative. "I tell them I do my best, and remind them no matter what gifts they receive, they'll always receive one very special gift — their parents' love."

Unfortunately, some parents don't always realize how special their children are.

"I was at an arts and crafts show and a little girl sat on my lap and began to put her arms around me. I thought she was going to give me a hug, but she turned her head and whispered in my ear. She said that she is a good girl and she gets all A's in school, sometimes some B's. She wanted a puppy this year."

"I went up to the parents later on to tell them what their daughter wanted for Christmas. The mom frowned and said, 'I know, she's been bugging us about it for two years.' Some parents just don't know what they've got," Bista said.

Oftentimes, there are gifts that even Santa can't bring. Bista traveled to a school out of state to visit a terminally ill child.

About a week after spending part of the day with the classes and the little boy, Bista received a letter from the faculty.

"It was probably one of the most heart-wrenching letters I've ever received," Bista said.

The letter said, in part, "Recently you volunteered your services as Santa Claus as a surprise for a student of ours who is terminally ill and financially disadvantaged. We can't thank you enough for making Christmas 1991 a joyous one for us, and for a young man who had very little to look forward to. No one who has seen you in action could ever deny the existence of Santa Claus and the true spirit of Christmas."

The Christmas spirit is difficult to attain, yet easy to spread. Bista claims he received the gift from his upbringing, schooling and strong sense of family values.

"Before my parents died, they instilled in me the importance of caring for others. I've tried to pass that on to everyone I've met," he added.

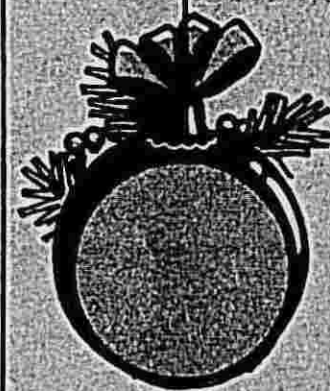

If Virginia had the opportunity to meet Bista, she never would have questioned the existence of Santa Claus — for he exists in the heart of man.

Recently you volunteered your services as Santa Claus as a surprise for a student of ours who is terminally ill and financially disadvantaged. When I, and some of our other faculty members who contributed gifts, heard the tape you discretely made for us, it brought tears to our eyes.

We can't thank you enough for making Christmas 1991 a joyous one for us, and for a young man who had very little to look forward to.

Your professionalism, kindness and ability to keep our gift confidential could never be repaid.

No one who has seen you in action could ever deny the existence of Santa Claus and the true spirit of Christmas.

I don't often find myself writing letters of thanks, but after seeing the look on the children's faces after seeing Santa Claus at our Christmas party, I can think of nothing else.

Mr. Bista, thank you for the most memorable Christmas! To see the wonderment and joy in their eyes, the smiles on their faces...it brought tears, even to the adults of the crowd.

As I believed when I was younger, dismissed as I grew older, I know and know forever in my heart, "Yes Virginia, there is a Santa Claus...and to all that may see Mr. Bista...you will believe too!"

Thank you again, and may all your Christmas' bring you as much peace, joy and memories, as you brought to us this year!

On behalf of K-Mart 7222 in Hoffman Estates and the needy children in our community, I would like to thank you for taking the time to be a Santa Claus for these children.

The smiles on their faces were enough to know that having breakfast with Santa and getting a little gift from him, was a very special Christmas for them.

Some of the children in the community never have the opportunities that we have. We like to help out our community whenever we can and this year, breakfast with Santa was a Christmas they will never forget.

Thank you again for a good job well done, and please keep us in mind. You will probably be hearing from us again for next year.

Have a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year.

The kids were thrilled with your "Santa performance" last Christmas, and have failed to forget your appearance. If Santa were real, he'd look just like you! So please put us on your Christmas day list for 1992. We'll all look forward to seeing you again.

Christmas is for children

Gathering around the fireplace with the grown-ups...crackling of the logs...the piney scent of the tree...baking cookies with Mom and Grandma, such are the Christmas moments to remember and cherish throughout life. Merry Christmas from my 1992 models—Nicole, Shannon, Alicia, Tracie, Heather, Ashley, Sara, Alexis and me.

Christmas Candy Wreath

- 1 wire coat hanger (strong and heavy)
- 2 spools fine wire
- 4 lbs. wrapped hard candy in many colors
- 1 yd. wide red ribbon
- 1 pair child's dull scissors
- 1 piece florist's tape

Bend a hanger into a circle, leaving the hook at the top. Knot one end of the fine wire to the hook at the top. Begin attaching the candy pieces to the wire one at a time by looping the wire around the paper ends of the candy. After each three or four pieces of candy, wind the wire around the coat hanger frame and the previous piece of candy. Continue this process around this circle of the coat hanger from right to left. Make the wreath as thick as you like. (If too much candy is used, try adding a second hanger). Press the candy together for tightness and desired thickness and to make an attractive color scheme.

When the candy is in place, wrap the hanger hook with florist tape or ribbon. Tie a large red bow with streamers under the bow. Attach the scissors to one of the streamers to cut the candy. (Be sure the paper end of the candy is what gets cut). A wreath of butter-scotch candies with an olive green bow is especially effective...and edible.

Hang your wreath from the door frame or give it some wall space, or use as a delightful gift for Christmas-time, one the children will especially appreciate.

Chocolate-Covered Cherries

- 6 Tbl. butter, softened
- 2 1/2 c. sifted powdered sugar
- 1 1/2 tsp. milk
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla extract

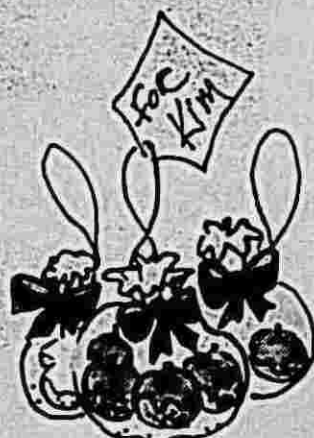

- About 48 maraschino cherries with stems
- 1 (12 oz.) pkgs. semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 Tbl. shortening

Cream butter; gradually add sugar, beating well. Blend in milk and vanilla. Chill mixture for 2 hours or until firm.

Drain cherries; dry on absorbent paper towels. Place bowl of sugar in a bowl of ice to keep mixture chilled. Shape a small amount of sugar mixture around each cherry. Place on waxed paper-lined cookie sheet; chill about 2 hours or until firm.

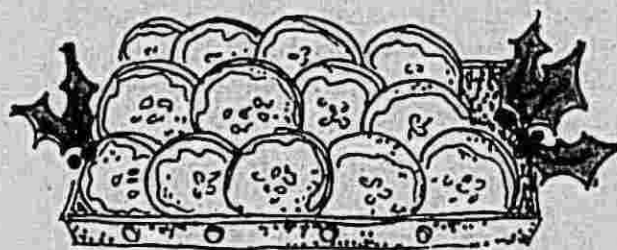

Melt chocolate and shortening in top of a double boiler. Dip each cherry by the stem into chocolate. Place on a waxed paper-lined cookie sheet; chill until firm. Store cherries in a cool place.

Makes about 4 dozen.

Iced Eggnog Cookies

These cookies are spread with rum-flavored icing after they are baked, then topped off with nuts, coconut or candied cherries.

- 2 c. flour
- 2 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 c. butter
- 3/4 c. sugar
- 2 tsp. each vanilla and rum flavoring
- 1 egg
- Rum icing
- Chopped nuts, coconut or candied cherries.

Combine the flour, nutmeg and salt. In a bowl, beat the butter with sugar until creamy; beat in the vanilla, rum flavoring and egg until fluffy. Stir in the flour until blended. Cover the bowl and chill at least 2 hours.

With floured hands, form dough into 1 inch balls. (If crumbly, let dough stand at room temperature about 15 minutes). Place balls on ungreased baking sheets about one inch apart. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from pan and cool on wire racks.

Frost cooled cookies with rum icing, then garnish with nuts, coconut or cherries, if you wish. After icing sets up, store cookies, with waxed paper between layers, in covered containers up to 3 days or freeze. Makes about 4 dozen.

Rum Icing: Beat together 1/4 c. butter, 1 tsp. rum flavoring, 1/2 tsp. vanilla and 2 1/2 c. unsifted powdered sugar. Add 2 to 3 Tbl. milk to obtain a good spreading consistency.

Cookie "Turtles"

- 6 Tbl. butter
- 1/3 c. shortening
- 2/3 c. packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 3/4 c. flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- Pecan halves

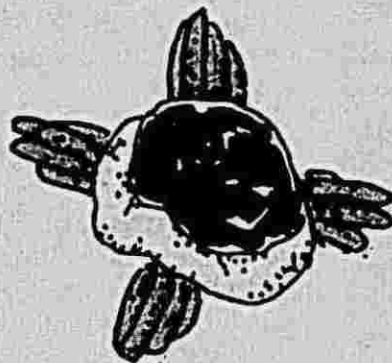

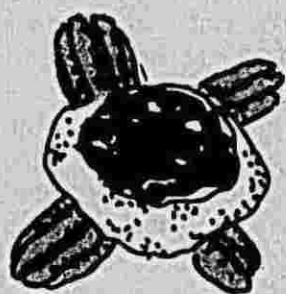

Assorted candy (chocolate-coated caramel candies)

1 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted

Cream together butter, shortening and brown sugar till light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Stir together flour, baking powder, baking soda and 1/4 tsp. salt; add to creamed mixture. Mix well. Chill dough thoroughly.

On an ungreased cookie sheet, arrange pecan halves in groups of four to form feet of turtle. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Press a small chocolate caramel candy into the center of each ball; roll dough around the candy. Place a ball of dough atop each group of nuts. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool one minute. Remove from cookie sheet; cool on rack. Spread with chocolate.

Makes 4 dozen.

Tree Santas

Tree limbs found in the woods or trimmings from your yard can be transformed into rustic bodies for these folk art Santas.

With acrylic paints, apply red for the hat and body, white for the beard and cuffs and a natural color for the face and hands. To make a puffy beard and cuffs, use the fabric puff paint. A toothpick swirled in the puff paint will give a raised look.

Larger pieces of wood make great free-standing Santas, while the smaller twigs look good used as tree ornaments. To give a shiny, polished sheen apply varnish.

Hand-Painted Christmas Cookies

Paint frosted cookies with food coloring; rinse brush between colors. Gives such a beautiful look, stained-glass-ish.

- 1 1/2 c. sugar
- 1 c. butter
- 2 large eggs
- 1 tsp. almond extract
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- 3 c. flour

Frosting (recipe follows)

Undiluted food coloring

Beat sugar and butter until fluffy.

Beat in eggs and almond extract. Stir soda, then flour, into butter mixture until well blended. Cover; chill until firm, 2 1/2 hours or up to 3 days.

On a floured board, roll 1/4 of dough at a time 3/16 inch thick. Cut with cookie cutters. Place one inch apart on 12x15 inch baking sheets. Chill and reroll scraps. Bake in 350 degree oven until golden, 12 minutes. Cool on racks.

Dip cookie tops in frosting; let dry, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Using fine paint brushes, decorate cookies with food coloring. Let dry, 15 minutes. Serve, or store airtight up to 4 days. Makes about 5 1/2 dozen, 2 1/4 inch size.

Frosting: In a bowl, beat 3 large egg whites until foamy. Beat in 1 1/2 tsp. almond extract and 3 1/2 c. sifted powdered sugar until smooth.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Go with your lighter side this week, and you come out a winner. You have no lack of ideas, and both the boss and friends appreciate your input. Friends and loved ones are still hot on your track all weekend long.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You don't say a lot this week, which makes you, the normally talkative one, seem most mysterious. This is a week for action, not words. Be nurturing dealing with a loved one's hurts, needs and desires.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You chat up a storm all week long, as your thoughts are on security — emotional, financial or job related. You may not be able to resolve things exactly the way you want, but don't worry. Make it okay, and by the weekend you don't care.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Don't kid yourself. You're in the limelight this week, or perhaps better said, under scrutiny by the boss or a partner. Don't worry, though — you come out with flying colors. Plan on a victory celebration being part of your weekend.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) You are empowered as the week begins. Remember, you call the shots and make it happen. Being such a practical sign, you solidify your finances and play the consumer expert as you finish off your Santa shopping. Expect to scurry around most of the weekend.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Listen to your inner voice — it will lead you in the right direction. You peak at the end of the work week, when your magnetism is irresistible to others. Count on merrymaking as you finish off your shopping this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) You go for what you want this week, and you come out on top, despite a moment — or day or two — of trepidation, worry and anxiety. No sweat for the Scorpio — you handle this with ease. You radiate all weekend long with happiness and the glow of success.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) You are a prime candidate for adulation and attention this week, and you get your accolades. Just ask for your preferred form of pat on the back. You push so hard this week, you may need some R & R by the weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Reach out for the stars this week. You may need to do additional research to nail what you want on the head, but you do get attention and acclaim for a job well done. Put on your Santa gear for the round of parties this weekend. Ho, ho, ho!

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Get in close with others this week and have some one-to-one conversations. You change because of what you learn and appreciate another's viewpoint. Phones ring and activity surrounds communications, travel and a romance by the weekend.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Expect pounding and knocking at your door this week. You are so desired, Pisces. Decide what it is you want, and remember you are in the position to negotiate for what you want. It's as if an angel smiled down on you.

These characters enjoy tormenting and distracting the benevolent, but slightly bizarre, Willy Wonka who because of his passionate love of chocolate, ingeniously invents secret recipes for the delicious chocolate "wonka bars" and "everlasting gobstopppers." The good-hearted Charlie, in the end, gets to enjoy the rewards from discovering the last of the five "golden tickets."

'Triple Exposure' full of witty dialogue and visual humor

Critics Choice

"Triple Exposure," a new comedy by Jim Geoghan (he also created "Only Kidding"), reaches in many directions for pathos and blunt humor to sketch its three characters.

It is a play full of witty dialogue and visual humor.

Thomas is an angry 40-something man robbed of his sight in a stupid accident eight years ago. Lou, a foul-mouthed bartender at the Terminal Bar, is his drinking buddy and only friend until Edna, a volunteer from the Lighthouse for the Blind storms her way into his life.

As with all triangles, this business of three being a crowd quickly becomes apparent. But between Christmas and New Year's, a happy ending is found.

The twist here is that Edna is dowdy and slightly lame. But both she and her new sightless companion, a former cab-driver who can spout poetry he memorized years ago in high school, "see" past the physical and recognize potential soul mates.

Gary Houston chases about his mess-strewn New York apartment in Hell's Kitchen like a madman, commanding pity and respect at the same time. Gary Brichetto puts on the thick blue-collar good-buddy facade to the maximum, while Maureen Gallagher is full of surprises, one minute the tough maiden and the next a fellow-traveler sharing a similar miserable past as her blind friend.

Under Terry McCabe's direction, the cast delivers a splendid performance. "Triple Exposure" runs through Jan. 3. Ticket information is available at (312)743-6000.—by TOM WITOM

Certain Distant Suns rise in alternative rock scene

National press has described Certain Distant Suns as "anglo-funka-delicious mood-rock," "alternative mood pop," and "ultrasonic groove."

"What it boils down to is we do a lot of sampling technology. We do ambient pop songs; we set a mood for music," said Justin Mroz, lead vocalist, guitars and keyboard.

Reviewers may be hard-pressed to label this alternative band whose style on its recent release "Huge e.p." ranges from dreamy pop to funky dance music. Whatever it's called, critics are agreeing that the sound is exceptional.

Certain Distant Suns, whose members are from Ingleside and Round Lake, are enjoying status as one of the hottest bands in Chicago's alternative rock scene. On Saturday, Dec. 19, the band will perform as part of 93.1 WXRT Chicago Showcase Series at The Cabaret Metro, 3730 N. Clark in Chicago, along with Bad Examples and Groovediggers.

Certain Distant Suns' roots go back to Carmel High School where Justin and Lance Stewart, bass player, were friends. After graduation, Lance moved to California and the two friends stayed in contact. "We kept writing songs back and forth," said Justin.

Lance returned to Ingleside and in 1989, Certain Distant Suns was formed. It evolved into the current lineup which also includes Jared Mroz (Justin's cousin) on drums, Ingleside; Dan Zigmund, guitar, Round Lake; and Kerry Finerty, guitar, Chicago.

Saturday night's show at the Metro will be in front of a crowd of about 1,000 people, quite a contrast from the band's beginnings.

Certain Distant Suns' first gig was at Chicago club, Batteries Not Included. "It was on Fathers Day, two and a half years ago," remembered Justin. "It was really hot and no one was there."

But the band wasn't about to get discouraged. "You always have to be persistent, to keep sending your stuff out... That's the only thing that really helps," said Justin.

Justin said the band sent about five demo tapes to the Cabaret Metro before getting booked. He described getting booked at the Metro, last March, as one of the band's biggest accomplishments to date. "We worked so hard to get it," he said. Justin added that the Metro is now very supportive of the band.

Another memorable moment for Certain Distant Suns was a raving review in the College Music Journal (CMJ). "I'm proud of the CMJ review. We didn't expect that at all. We're real excited."

Since the review in CMJ and other positive reviews, the band has had numerous calls from record labels interested in signing the band.

Certain Distant Suns has also filmed a music video with one of the tracks from "Huge e.p.," "Snowfall at the Most Curious Times." The video was filmed at the College of Lake County soundstage. Justin said MTV has shown interest in the video.

The future of Certain Distant Suns may include spending time in London. Justin said he's been most influenced by British bands like The Cure and The Smiths.

For right now, Justin said they're grateful to be where they are. "I'm very thankful. Not everybody gets to do something like this," he said. —by CLAUDIA M. LENART

Downtown Chicago Before Christmas

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Some of my fondest memories of Christmas include going "Downtown" with Grandmas to see the Christmas decorations on State Street and pushing through the crowds to see the window displays at Carson's and Marshall Field's. Then, there was the highlight of the day, lunch at Field's Walnut Room! I seldom finished my meal since I spent most of the time staring up at the giant Christmas Tree in the center of the room.

I drove down to Chicago last weekend to relive some of those memories. Grandma's gone now, but the lights on State Street are still there.

So are the windows at Carson's and Marshall Field's. Field's windows are as spectacular as ever, though I don't quite know where Cinderella fits into Christmas. Carson's animated Elves seemed more in the spirit.

The line at the Walnut room ruled out lunch there, but I still got to see the "Giant Tree" from a viewing platform on the 7th floor.

State Street still has the carnival atmosphere of my childhood memories with the smell of food from the many vendors, the sound of street musicians and the crowds of shoppers. Now there's even an ice skating rink where the old Walgreens once stood.

A few blocks away, though, is North Michigan Ave. offering a totally different personality of Chicago with its sophisticated ambience and stores with names like Saks 5th Ave., Nieman Marcus and Tiffany's. I found no food vendors and the closest thing to a street musician was a Salvation Army Bell Ringer.

The store windows did have a Christmas theme, but it's more like Mom opening her new mink coat than animated Elves.

There is a Field's here, too, but I just didn't get the "Christmas of Old" feeling of the original Marshall Field's on State Street.

If you decide to visit Chicago, take advantage of low weekend rates offered by the Downtown hotels. The Sheraton Plaza, Lenox House, Days Inn and Embassy Suites are good bets.

RJ's: the place for big appetites, small budgets

Every day — and twice on Sundays. That's the different all-you-can-eat meal deals offered at RJ's Eatery in Lindenhurst.

RJ's has come up with a delicious way to satisfy the whole family — and on a tight budget. The wide variety of all-you-can-eat specials start at just $3.95. And it all comes amid RJ's festive decor.

Start with Monday's keep-it-comin' broasted chicken special for just $5.95. It includes a choice of potato, vegetables and breadsticks.

Come in Tuesday for the pizza fest. It's all you can eat thin-crust sausage or cheese pizza for only $3.95.

Wednesdays are for spaghetti. Enjoy portions topped with RJ's homemade meat sauce and served with garlic bread for $4.95.

Check out the barbecue beef rib special on Thursday. For $6.95, you get all those ribs, a choice of potato, vegetables and breadsticks.

Fridays are for fish fries, and RJ's serves fresh North Atlantic cod deep-fried in a special beer batter. Get a choice of potato, vegetables, breadsticks and all the fish you can handle for only $6.95.

Then come back Saturday for Alaskan Snow Crab legs with drawn butter, lemon, choice of potato, vegetables and breadsticks. It's all you can eat for $13.95.

Start Sunday off with the breakfast buffet from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. The eggs, biscuits and gravy, hash browns, pancakes, french toast, bacon, sausage and fruit tray are without end — for $5.95.

Later on Sundays, try the all-you-can-eat roast or turkey feast with mashed potatoes, gravy, vegetables and breadsticks for just $5.95.

The all-you-can-eat specials — except for pizza — include soup or salad bar. It's only $1.95 more with the pizza.

And don't forget to try out the lunch buffet from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"Quality, consistency and good service — these three key factors are what make's RJ's a great restaurant," says manager David Hinks. "Great food every time you visit."

Finish off that great meal with the three-inch-high New York-style cheese-cake or the tongue-tingling chocolate cake. They're made from scratch with the finest ingredients.

RJ's also offers the Outback Bar, a great place to meet friends.

RJ's, 1311 E. Grand Ave., sits on the shores of Sand Lake. RJ's opens at 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday and at 11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Try RJ's for dining in, delivery or carry-out. Call 356-2300.

Christmas trees post holiday uses

Breathe deeply at a Christmas tree farm and you will enjoy not only the fresh pine fragrance, but also fresh, oxygenated air. That's because of photosynthesis: The trees absorb carbon dioxide-laden air and emit oxygen.

This process of removing excessive carbon dioxide and other harmful gases from the atmosphere also delays the earth-warming "greenhouse effect."

Just one acre of Christmas trees produces the daily oxygen requirement for 18 people. Young trees in their rapid growth years have a high rate of photosynthesis and thus produce more oxygen than older trees.

For each Christmas tree cut, two to three new trees are planted. In the United States, there are approximately one million acres in production for growing Christmas trees. This translates to oxygen for 18 million people per day.

After the holidays, a Christmas tree has many uses:

- Place the Christmas tree in the garden for use as a winter bird feeder and shelter. Use orange slices and bird food to attract birds.

- Christmas trees are biodegradable. The branches can be removed and used as mulch in the garden. The trunk can be chopped for mulch.

- Large quantities of trees make effective sand and soil erosion barriers, especially at beaches.

- Sunk into fish ponds, trees make excellent refuge and feeding areas.

- Balled and potted trees can be planted in the yard for added years of enjoyment.

Lip syncing not allowed at Gurnee Mills studio

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

With the popularity of interactive games in the United States at an all-time high, it is not surprising that an obscure Japanese pastime is now one of the most popular stops for patrons of Gurnee Mills Mall.

The Pioneer Star Factory Studio, which presently is the only one like it in the world, is an interactive game person's heaven where one can go into a working recording studio and sing the lyrics to 1,600 popular songs just like the Boss or Madonna would do for real.

"On any given Friday evening, we will have a short wait for the studios," said Larry Dybis, who is the Star Factory's store manager. "But, it is usually short and our customers can use that time to browse through our song catalog before their studio opens up."

Gurnee's Star Factory studios feature "laser karaoke" in eight life-like studios where parties from one to 14 can experience the life of a recording star through the use of Pioneer's Laser Karaoke machines, which use a compact disc library of songs and accompanying videos with lyrics to help the singers remember the words to the song.

Karaoke, which means "empty orchestra" in Japanese, started in Japan during the early '70s and quickly became a hit among the country's businessmen.

"Karaoke is a $4 billion business with over 88,000 studios in Japan," said Dybis.

The unique idea first came into the United States when Pioneer Laser Entertainment, in 1988, introduced the first commercial karaoke systems to bars, restaurants and other entertainment venues. Later, PLE offered its first home system, which included the choice of three different laser players, with a wide range of prices, designed specifically for home use.

Then came the opening of the first karaoke retail store on May 30, 1992, which finally brought the real Japanese idea of karaoke to the United States.

"In Japan, karaoke studios are very plain rooms where businessmen go to entertain themselves and relax," said Dybis. "Star Factory is the only karaoke studio in the world that has a production studio look and feel to it."

According to Dybis, the design of the store resulted from an idea session PLE had with a team of professional retail management consultants. The result was a store that has the look of a professional music studio, complete with soundproof rooms, acoustical wall treatments, barn door track lighting and studio "in-session" lights above each studio door, which are numbered in record studio tradition by multiples of 11.

The store's purpose, according to Dybis, is to entertain people who would like to sing in the privacy of their sound proof studio. Patrons are able to sing either privately or with an audience of friends or family.

"We love to host parties here," said Dybis. "We offer a fun place to have that special birthday or group activity."

Singers first pay to rent the studio they want, either by the half hour or full hour at a cost that ranges from $8 to $30, depending on the size of the group in attendance.

Once in the studio, detailed instructions in the song book, which list all of the available karaoke songs in the studio's music library, inform the group how to program their song requests using either the remote control or buttons on the in-studio equipment.

Then all the singers have to do is grab one of the several microphones in the studio and sing until their time expires.

However, that is not all Star Factory offers its customers when they visit the first retail karaoke store. Continuing the star-like treatment of their patrons, the store offers refreshments like soft drinks, coffee, and snacks, Star Factory sports apparel including t-shirts, jackets and hats, and the opportunity to record a song during your session on either cassette tape or compact disc.

"Currently, we are the only studio in the United States that can put your karaoke song on compact disc for you to take home at a reasonable price," said Dybis. "It is a great souvenir to take home."

A recorded song during a studio session costs $5.95 for a tape and $19.95 for a compact disc.

Another unique offer, which according to Dybis is coming in the new year, is specialty covers for the tape and compact disc cases will be offered, complete with the signers photo.

For the store's regular and frequent customers, the Star Factory's Backstage Pass is offered for $34.95. This one-year pass enables the holder to a free Star Factory t-shirt and pin, a 20 percent discount on all studio rentals, a 10 percent discount on all Star Factory sportswear, and $2 off any studio recording purchases.

"We always have something going on here," said Dybis. "You can count on a new approach or angle here at Star Factory."

One of the different things the store does, according to Dybis, is the monthly karaoke contest Star Factory hosts in the Gurnee Mills show court near mall entrance G.

Dybis said the management of PLE is excited over the success of the Gurnee retail store and has two new stores under construction in Los Angeles and Honolulu. Future stores are under consideration for New York and Florida sites.

"Karaoke is catching on in the US and with the uniqueness of the Star Factory retail stores, our future looks really promising," said Dybis.

Children taught safe ways to escape fire

The National Fire Prevention Association reports 80 percent of all fire fatalities in the U.S. occur in the home. Many lives could have been saved if the victims had planned and practiced fire escape routines.

Children, because they are more easily frightened and confused in a fire, are often among the needless victims.

Kindergarten through third-grade children at Woodview Elementary School learned how to escape a fire in their home and other fire safety tips.

"Fire and Your Safe Escape," a program designed just for children, was presented by Dan Gerber, a safety expert with the Country Companies insurance group.

To capture and keep the attention of the children, the program uses cartoon slides showing how to plan escape routes, to check doors and windows for safe escape, to stay low and crawl and other life-saving measures.

Each child also received a "Fire and Your Safe Escape" coloring book featuring Reddy Ryder, the Country Companies safety mascot. The coloring book contains a checklist of places in the home where fire hazards commonly exist, a place to map escape routes and other fire safety information.

"We encourage the children to take the book home and share it with their parents. Planning for safe escape from fire should be a family activity—and one that is practiced regularly," says Gerber.

The program was arranged by Country Companies Community Education in cooperation with Joe Weiler, an agent in the Country Companies Grayslake Agency.

Homes glitter, glow more than ever this season

'I think (the increase in holiday spending) says there's a wave of optimism that's swept the country with the election of Clinton. Whether or not it can be sustained depends on how Clinton performs.'

—Rob Baade, head of economics department at Lake Forest College

by CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers

Every year more appear — Santa's sleighs, six-foot high candles, manger scenes, snowmen and snow ladies, reindeer on rooftops, big red ribbons, and wreaths. And of course, there are lights, lots of lights, blinking lights, dancing lights, colorful lights, white lights and still lights. Driving through some Lake County neighborhoods is like traveling through Disneyland, or perhaps Las Vegas, at night.

Lake County residents, as well as holiday revelers across the nation, are

Energy, economic worries seem to be a thing of the past as residents spend more on holiday decor decorating more than they did 10 years ago. And area merchants say sales of holiday house finery this year have shown significant increases over last year.

"Every year we see more and more people decorating," said Bill Kurschardt, a manager at Ace Hardware in Wauconda for 15 years. "From last year to this year, we've had a big increase. So far sales are double from last year."

At the Country Bumpkin Garden Center in Mundelein, George White said sales of wreaths, garland and trees are up about 20 percent. Kim Williams from the Garden Center in Volo has seen a significant increase in their custom-decorated wreaths, some 50 percent.

In general, spending this holiday season is up 5 to 10 percent. Rob Baade, head of the economics department at Lake Forest College sees the increase in spending on holiday decorating as a vote of confidence for President-elect Bill Clinton.

"I think it says there's a wave of optimism that's swept the country with the election of Clinton. Whether or not it can be sustained depends on how Clinton performs," said Baade. He added that consumer confidence is bound to have a positive effect on the economy.

But not only are people decorating more, they are also decorating earlier. White said as of last week, more than half of his Christmas inventory was already gone.

This mass decorating is a turn-around from the mid-'70s when energy conscious Americans were turning off the lights.

"I think collectively as a society we went through a rather guilty era with the energy crisis," said Kathryn Anthony, associate professor in the School of Architecture and in the housing and development program at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

"People were hesitant," continued Anthony. "Energy conservation is still an issue, but people are less conscious about it, there's less guilt."

Kurschardt believes part of the recovery since the '70s in outdoor decorating is a result of companies making more energy-saving lights.

Anthony has also noticed a domino effect. "In certain neighborhoods a few houses go all out and that mood tends to spread," said Anthony. "It can be a symbol for a neighborhood, a group identity."

Anthony draws an analogy between the way people dress and the way they decorate their homes during the holidays. "People who might normally dress sedate, put on a little sparkle. Men wear holiday ties and people wear things they wouldn't be caught dead in the rest of the year."

"It's a time of year when norms can be broken, people can be more loose, more fun for one month than they are the other 11 months of the year."

Lakeland hosts festive Extravaganza

More than 250 people attended Lakeland Newspaper's fourth annual Extravaganza at the Diplomat in Gurnee. The evening, filled with hors d'oeuvres, refreshments and prizes, evolved into a night of surprises as four lucky winners found themselves holding the winning tickets for destinations such as Martha's Vineyard, the Caribbean, Minnesota and Hilton Head.

Many more prizes were distributed throughout the evening, after brief speeches of appreciation by Lakeland Newspapers Publisher William H. Schroeder and General Manager William M. Schroeder.

The Extravaganza is hosted by Lakeland Newspapers each year to thank their advertising clients.

Winners of the trips this year were Pat McKie of Sandy McKie and Sons, trip to Martha's Vineyard; Jay Williams of Mailboxes Etc., Caribbean Cruise; Ken Kuebler of Premier Insurance, trip to Minnesota; Tanya Hammes and Kelly Szewczuk of Gander Mountain, trip to Hilton Head.

NICASA urges for stronger penalties for drunk drivers

The Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse is urging the adoption of a state law making it illegal for anyone under the age of 21 to drive with any measurable alcohol in their blood.

Known as a "zero tolerance" law, it would complement existing state laws which prohibit alcohol sales and service to any individual under the age of 21.

"With alcohol-related highway crashes being the number one killer of teens, it's important that forceful legislation be developed to attempt to reduce the number of deaths," said Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director.

She said national studies have demonstrated that zero tolerance laws leading to the loss of driver's licenses can reduce alcohol-related fatalities.

NICASA's support of a zero tolerance law comes during December's National Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month. Slogan for the month is "Let's Take a Stand. Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk."

Fried said far too many parents seem to ignore the law when they condone adolescent drinking with the misguided rationalization, "at least they're not on drugs."

She said she is concerned that some young people may translate anti-drinking

'It's important that forceful legislation be developed to attempt to reduce the number of deaths.'

— Judy Fried

NICASA

Executive Director

and driving themes into meaning that drinking is OK as long as you don't drive.

"But it isn't OK. And for those individuals under 21, it is illegal to drink at all," Fried said.

She commended the volunteers and staff of the Lake County Fighting Back Project and the staff of InTouch/Prevention Service for helping raise the awareness level of Lake County residents — especially young people — about the positive alternatives to using alcohol as a means of dealing with life's challenges.

NICASA is also supporting reducing the legal blood alcohol concentration limit from .10 to .08 for drivers 21 and over and automatic license revocation laws which would enable police to immediately confiscate the driving license of a driver who is found with a blood alcohol level over the legal limit or who refuses to take a blood alcohol level test.

In Illinois, for example, she said the number of traffic deaths in the state reached a 47 year low in 1991. And there was also a significant decrease in Lake County.

Illinois had 1,444 traffic deaths in 1991, down from 1,568 deaths in 1990. In Lake County, there were 60 fatalities in 1991, down from 74 in 1990.

Galassie to lead health department

The Lake County Board of Health has selected Dale W. Galassie of Highland Park as the new executive director for the Lake County Health Dept. Galassie will direct all aspects of day-to-day operations of the health department, one of the largest in the state, as well as work closely with the board of health and in coordinating health department services to the meet the needs of the county.

Galassie has been with the health department since 1981.

"It is my goal that this health department will continue to be a vanguard in the promotion of health, the prevention of disease and disability, and protection of the environment in Lake County," Galassie said.

More great years for Depke

by JOSEPH SOULAK

Lakeland Newspapers

With his new team in place, Robert Depke has started a second term as County Board chairman.

Committee chairmanships and memberships have been assigned. Counterpart Colin McRae of Mundelein will lead the companion Forest Preserve for two years.

Looking ahead, Depke says: "I hope the next two years are as great as the past two."

Apart from the County Board, one of the newest members of the team is Dale Galassie of Highland Park. He is the new director of the Lake County Health Dept. Named acting director when Steven Potsic was fired in August, the 11-year staffer has just been given the full title.

For the immediate future it is more industrial growth and jobs. Depke worked to preserve a new Abbott Laboratories plant for the county. Ground should be broken in Wadsworth early next year. There is talk of 500 or more new jobs. Baxter Labs will open a new plant on 22nd St. employing 235.

Beyond this the chairman sees the need for a gas tax to revamp Lake County's highway system and put an end to gridlock. Undaunted by failure to win legislative approval to enact such a tax last year, he vows to try again.

Depke has warned toward the idea of riverboat gambling in or around Fox Lake. The promoters talk about a $10 million cut for the county.

Between the gas tax and gambling revenue, Depke thinks both could go a long way toward reducing gridlock and improving the quality of life.

"I want Lake County to be just as good as all the rest of you want it to be," Depke told his County Board colleagues earlier this month upon being re-elected.

Lake County businesses escape serious recession

Editor's Note: The second installment in a series examining the demographics, economics and education of Lake County examines business, industry, the recession and traffic. The information printed in this series of articles were compiled by Dr. Julie Weissman, director of CLC's office of institutional research and planning.

Recession talk is coming to an end, nationwide and countywide. Many businesses in Lake County felt only a tremor of the recession, and some believed that there was never a recession. For the larger corporations in the county, most muddled through the depressed economic times in fine fashion.

In the Chicago metropolitan area, according to Weissman, two of the top 25 privately-owned companies and four of the top publicly-owned companies in 1991 revenues are located in Lake County.

Baxter International Inc. increased 10 percent from 1990 to 1991; Abbott Laboratories, 12 percent; Walgreen Co., 11 percent; and Kemper Corp., 7 percent. Also during 1990-91, revenues fell 11 percent for CF Industries Inc. of Long Grove and 12 percent for Wickes Lumber Co.

Retail sales, the hardest hit during these rough years, actually grew 13 percent from 1990 to 1991 in Lake County, but fell in the four surrounding counties (Cook, DuPage, Will and McHenry). The only other county in the Chicago metropolitan area to post an increase, notes Weissman, was Kane County with a 5 percent increase.

Conversely, Komatsu Dresser Co., the world's second largest manufacturer of heavy construction equipment, closed its 200 worker plant in Libertyville. The plant was remodeled three years ago at a cost of $25 million when it had 500 workers.

Throughout the county, business transactions truly were a mixed bag.

As for labor, approximately 56 million workers entered the labor force between 1990 and 2005, while nearly 30 million will either retire or stop working, according to

"American Demographics."

In the coming years, noted Weissman, those entering the work force will be far more diverse, both ethnically and racially, than ever. Blacks are currently 11 percent of the work force, but will be 13 percent of the new entrants. For every black worker who leaves the work force, two black workers will enter. Approximately 8.8 million Hispanics are expected to enter the labor force, while only 1.6 million Hispanics will leave. Nearly one new worker in six will be of Hispanic origin during the next 14 years.

Between now and the year 2005, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that there will be an average of 914,000 more jobs each year in the country, requiring a college education. However, there will be 1.32 million more graduates competing for them. Although the number of jobs requiring a college degree will grow by 39 percent by the year 2005, there will not be enough jobs for the number of college graduates. Jobs not requiring a college degree will increase by only 16 percent.

Jobs in the health care industry are expected to grow from the current 7.8 million to 11.5 million by the year 2005, an increase of 47 percent.

In Lake County, by the year 2000, manufacturing employment is projected to grow by 18 percent while nonmanufacturing employment will increase 16 percent. Manufacturing facilities in the county grew 4.6 percent from 1990 to 1991, the second largest increase in the six-county area.

From 1992 to 2002, employment in Lake County is expected to grow 20 percent. Presently, Lake County has about 2.3 residents for every job located in the county.

Unemployment rates for Lake County have remained low, compared to those of the U.S., Illinois and the Chicago-metro area. In 1991, unemployment was 6.8 percent in the country, 7.1 percent in Illinois, and 4.6 percent in Lake County.

Even though finding a job is tough, getting to that job will be even more difficult throughout the 1990s. The 1990 census findings show that for Lake County residents 16 years and over who worked at the time of the census, 63.5 percent worked in Lake County, 35 percent worked out of the county but in Illinois, and 1 percent worked out of Illinois.

The third installment of this series will examine education, next week.

How To Survive The Job Search By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I was employed for 4 years as a 3rd grade teacher. Over the last 5 years I have been at home with the kids. I now see myself ready to return to work, and am finding teaching jobs in our area hard to come by. Therefore, I have been looking at alternatives. I have no office experience as I started teaching right out of college. My computer skills are limited. With my children in school full time, I would like to consider doing something worthwhile, and at the same time, bring in some extra money. What would you suggest? K.S. - Fox Lake

A: Dear K.S., Don't sell yourself short! Why not start your own Tutoring business! I know of Tutors earning $25.00 per hour and working various hours that are conducive to their schedules. If you are not the entrepreneur type, another idea is to apply for a position at any one of a number of learning centers providing the same service in tutoring. Good luck!

Q: Dear...Search: As a stay at home parent for the past 4 years, I have been toying with the idea of returning to work on a part time basis. A friend of mine has mentioned something called "job sharing". Could you please explain what this is? G.T. - Gurnee

A: Dear G.T. You would be amazed at the opportunities for back to work parents these days. One of the most recently utilized new methods for employment is called "job sharing". This usually calls for 2 people to fill a position in a company, both on a part time basis, thus allowing the flexibility on the part of the employees as well as enabling the company to keep their own costs down. The reason being, the typical part timer will work on an hourly basis and not receive the corporate benefits that are given to their full time personnel. Everyone benefits from this. With the rising cost these days, for corporations to provide substantial benefits for all full time employees the concept of job sharing works!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

TIPS ON - HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT SELLS

1. Use a KEYWORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what it is you have to sell.
2. Make your description CLEAR and PRACTICAL. State the year, make, model, color, size, and tell what condition the item is. Also state the special features.
3. State the PRICE. Successful Classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
4. If there's a genuine sense of URGENCY, say so. The words, "We're Moving" or "Must Sell Fast" suggests that readers respond immediately.
5. Include your PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 6 PM" or "Before 11 AM".

If you need assistance ask one of our friendly AD-VISORS to help you word your ad.

Patriots girls catching on to role as NSC powerhouse

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Stevenson girls basketball Coach Frank Mattucci gave the Patriots a challenge.

"Coach said, right now you have to play the best defense you ever have in your life. I know you can do it," Danielle Mall recalled.

Freshman Tauja Catchings had just made the most important free throws of the game with :20 left for a 50-50 tie with Libertyville.

"I asked Tauja to front Kelly Karl," Mattucci said of the strategy.

It worked, as Catching, tapped the ball to Mall, who put home a bank shot for the thrilling overtime win.

Catchings scored 24 points and Mall, a junior, 14 as Stevenson improved to 6-3 overall, 3-0 in the NSC. Libertyville dropped from the unbeaten ranks.

"There was no one on me," Mall said of the shot. "I don't think I shot well the whole game. I thought we did a good job reversing the ball. We wanted to look for a good shot inside the post."

Libertyville, led by 16 points from Sarah Weiss, had the upper hand in the waning seconds of regulation. Libertyville tried to run time off the clock, but instead Stevenson got turnovers. "We had three girls in an area where there should be two, but more power to them. That was probably the best game we've played all year but they played better ball," Libertyville Coach Tom Murphy said.

Catchings, daughter of former NBA standout Harvey Catchings, made all six of her free-throws. She has an unusual style which extends her arms.

"I just wanted to concentrate and square up," Catchings, age 14, said.

"Free-throw shooting has been hard for her. She has worked hard at it and it really paid off. Her quickness was also evident. She was every bit a quick as Karl," Mattucci said.

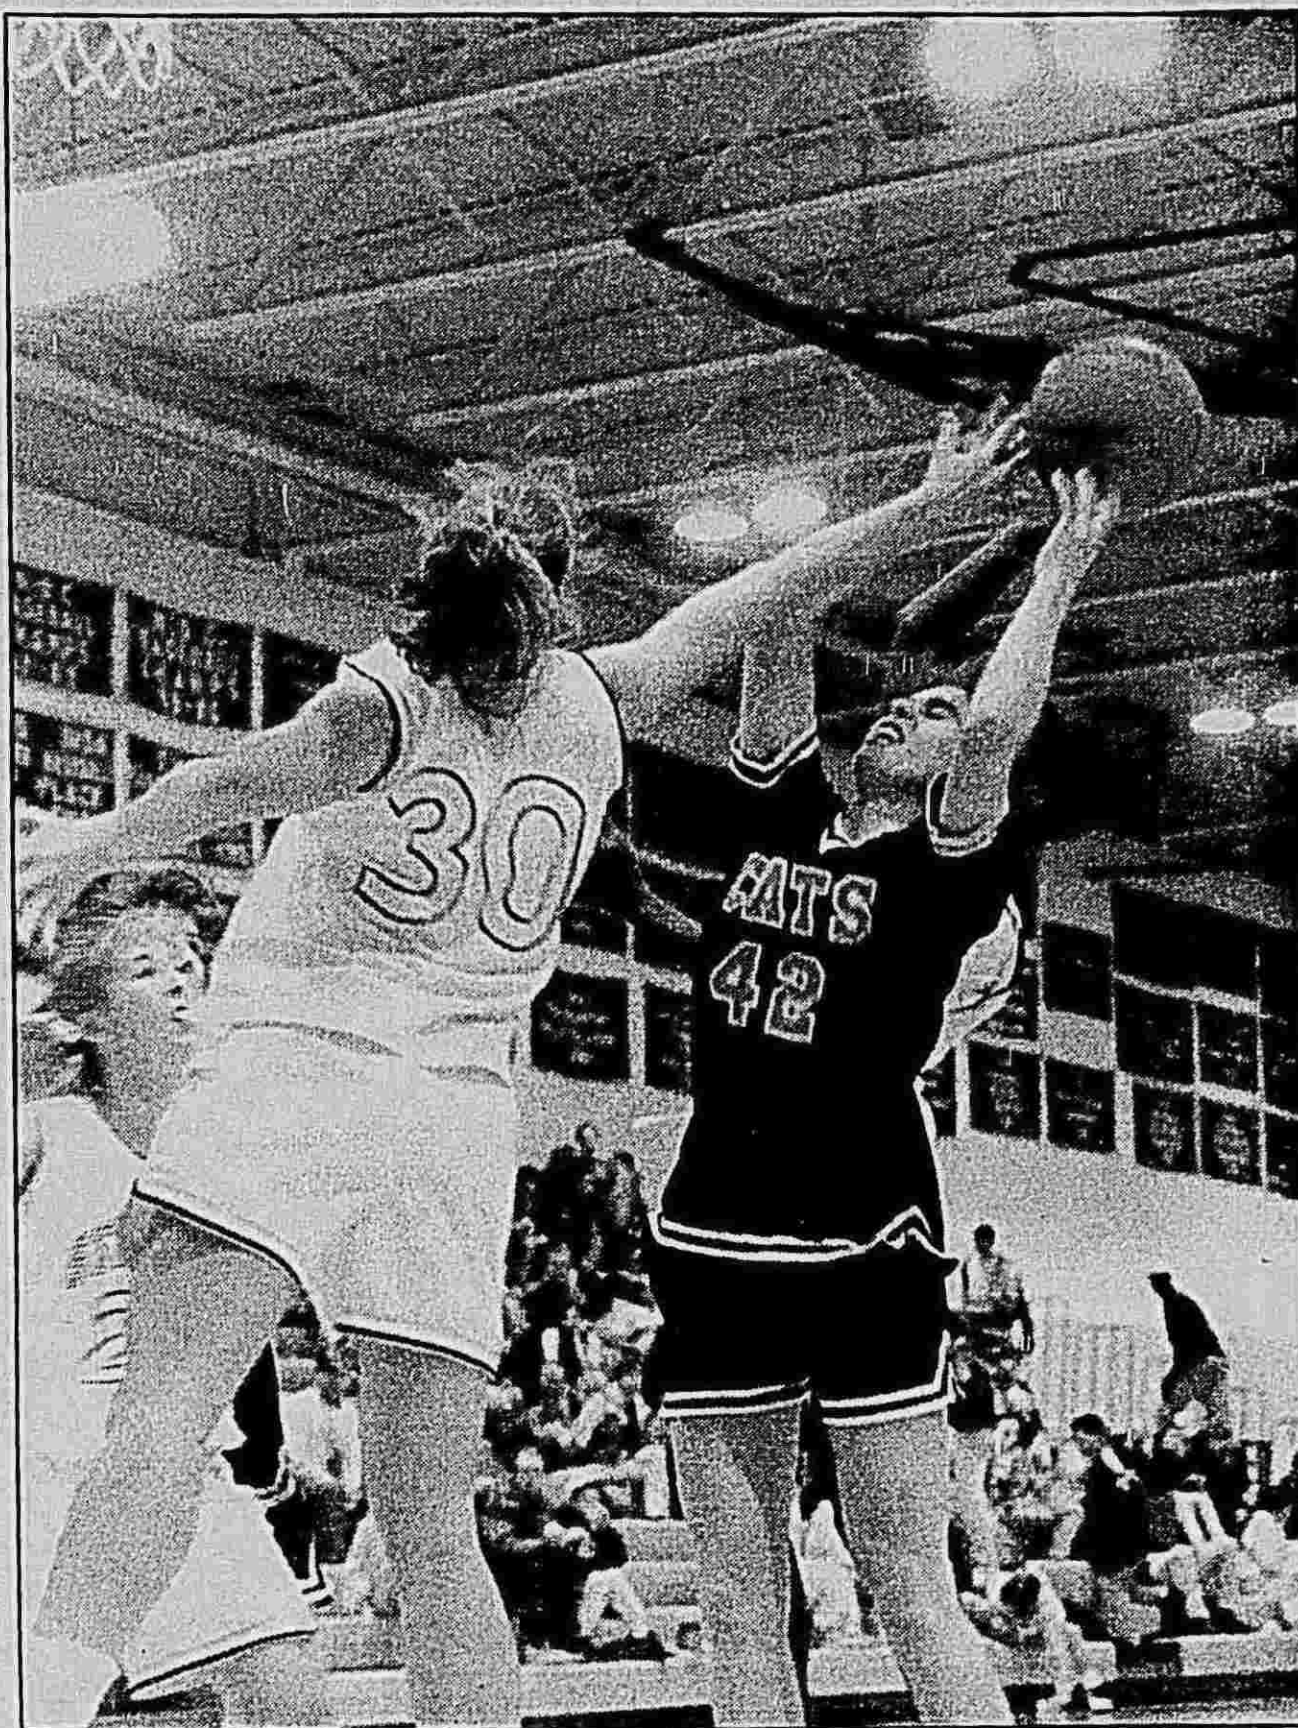

Stevenson faced its third NSC contender in a row as they faced unbeaten leader Warren Dec. 17. The Pats host lowly North Chicago Dec. 19. Libertyville looks to bounce back when it hosts Waukegan Dec. 19 after facing last-year's co-defending champ Fenton Dec. 17.

While Catchings was getting the interviews, Mattucci said freshman Christie Miller's defensive job on Kelly Karl deserves note. Karl was held to eight points. "Miller held Karl down. Kelly only had one steal on her," Mattucci said.

"The reason we got the 'w' was we played tough competition at the Thanksgiving tournament. That helped my team grow up and have some confidence late in the game," Mattucci said. "Our poise was really evident."

The Pats have four freshmen on the roster, but the coach looks at the athletes as basketball players first.

"You play the game, pass, shoot, score, catch the ball, you will play for me. I just throw out the five players who any given moment will win a game," Mattucci said.

Rejection

Stevenson's Danielle Mall (30) blocks a shot by Libertyville's Lindsey Celba. Mall scored 14 points, including the game-winner, as Stevenson knocked off Libertyville 52-50 in overtime. Tauja Catchings is in back of Celba. Celba had 14 points. — Photo by Steve Peterson.

Justus, Consdorf: Patriots' one-two attack

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Blake Consdorf and Jason Justus get together, it is more than teammates. The two have been playing basketball together since grade school days at St. Marys of Buffalo Grove.

"I believe in Blake the whole time. I knew he was a really good player. We had a lot of fun in grammar school," Consdorf said.

"Coach (Ken Johnson) showed me all the gifts I had as a player, especially mentally. That's the biggest difference from last year. Now I just try to stay focused," Justus said.

Justus scored 26 points in a win over Zion-Benton then scored 15 in a 90-71 romp over Libertyville.

The leading scorer against the 'Cats, though, was Consdorf, who finished with 24 points.

"He is really coming into his own as a player. As a junior, he did not think he could measure up. But he has always been a great shooter. He's a senior now, he's gained confidence," Coach Ken Johnson said. "He is a solid all-around player. He's a fine shooter, he plays defense and runs the floor really well."

"I see myself coming in and giving the team the best lift I can. Defense is first thing I do then if the shots come, I take them," Consdorf, a 6-5 forward said.

"Our priority is on defense. Our help defense was excellent, our denial defense was excellent. People tried to go backdoor and we were there to cover up. We were very quick," Johnson said.

Libertyville came into the game tied for first in the North Suburban Conference with the two-time dending champs. But after a 4-4 tie, it was all Stevenson which increased its lead to six points and 24-20 after one.

The lead quickly grew to double digits in the second quarter as Kenyon Catchings & Co. took over. The junior finished with 21 points.

Stevenson (3-0 NSC, 5-1 overall), hosts Warren Dec. 18. The clash is usually for first in the NSC, but the Blue Devils may be still smarting after double overtime losses.

Matt Heldman led the Wildcats (3-1, 4-3) with 28 points, but coach Max Sanders noted "even if he scored 40 points, we probably do not win this game."

"You can only tell them what to do so much; that's where we have to get smarter," Sanders said.

Stevenson shot nearly 70 percent in the first half.

Libertyville, which beat Zion-Benton before losing to Stevenson, is at Fenton Dec. 18 before hosting Waukegan in non-conference play Dec. 19.

Defense ignites CHS girls to 6-2 record

Carmel High School's girls basketball team is taking a mid-season break for exams and a chance to get away from the challenges of basketball.

The Corsairs passed the first half of the season with flying colors, taking a 6-2 overall record, 4-1 in the Girls Catholic Athletic Conference before a two-week layoff.

"I'm really pleased to be 6-2. Our tougher opponents are in the second half of the season, but we are confident we will be as successful in the second half,"

Carmel Coach Scott Green said.

Carmel is at the St. Viator Christmas tournament starting Dec. 26. Waukegan is the first-round opponent.

The Corsairs had no trouble with Trinity, in a 73-29 league win Saturday.

"We pressured them with a full-court press and the defense created some turnovers for us," Green said. "We had a 20-0 lead and went to the bench and kept fresh players out there. All 13 players scored."

Carmel made it five-for-six with a 22-4 lead after eight minutes. Natalie Gambit had 12 to lead Carmel. Jessica Narajowski, a 5-8 sophomore forward, had 11 points and Kathy Bregenzer had 10. Dede Hertel had seven, Robin Sticha six.

"Our defense is triggering our offense," Green said.

Gambit once again led the way with a 13-point outing in a 59-52 win over Mother Geurin. The Corsairs led by as many as 13 points in the third quarter. Megan Moran contributed 12 points.

Nelson, Grant cash in on free throws, tip Skyhawks

When a Grant girls basketball player went to the free-throw line in the first couple of games, Coach John Schad may have cringed.

"We were three-for-21 in the season opener against Woodstock but still won by one point. The last few games, free throws have been getting better," Schad said.

In fact, free throws were the difference as the Bulldogs outscored the Johnsburg Skyhawks 14-10 to win the Battle of Fox Lake. Both teams had 15 field goals, but Grant pulled out the 44-40 win.

Vicki Nelson had 14 points to lead the winners while Patti Owens had 10. Johnsburg's efforts was paced by 12 points from Dawn Pelczynski.

The Bulldogs (5-4 overall, 3-1 Northwest Suburban

Vicki Nelson

Conference) faced league-leading Round Lake Dec. 17 before taking time off for the Christmas break. Grant is at the Crystal Lake Central Christmas tourney while Johnsburg is at Richmond-Burton.

"Round Lake is just dominating everyone," Schad said.

The Bulldogs were able to pull this one out thanks to a 12-5 fourth quarter run. Grant started the week in second place in the NWSC.

"We tightened up on defense and we protected the ball better," Schad said.

Grant has been without the services of Chris Rowan, who injured an ankle in a game against Wauconda. Grant hoped to have the four-year starter back for Round Lake. Tami Schmitt, a letterwinner last year, has played the last two games in her absence.

"We are improving both offensively and defensively," Schad said.

Johnsburg led 9-8 after one but Grant led 24-22 at half-time on a snowy night in Fox Lake. Johnsburg won the third quarter 13-8, but the Bulldogs saved the best for last.

A thriller over Rams keeps Grant near top

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers
Grant coach Tom Maple called it "a classic."

That was the way he characterized his Bulldogs' 62-61 Northwest Suburban Conference win at Grayslake Tuesday night. Grant is now 7-1 overall and 3-1 in the league.

"I've seen a lot of them, and this was a classic ball game," Maple said. "There was a nice crowd — you can't get a better ball game than that. Not only was it close, it was a game between to very good ball clubs."

Plagued by 14 first-half turnovers, the Bulldogs found them in a 34-23 hole at the intermission. They cut their turnovers to seven in the second half.

After the Bulldogs gained the lead in the second half, the final outcome remained up for grabs. The Rams (4-4 and 3-1) missed two three-point attempts aimed at a tie in the closing moments before taking a two-point bucket.

"We put the clamps on defense a little tougher in the second half — not that we played bad defense in the first half," Maple said.

Grayslake's Dave Mandrella scored a game-high 23 points, followed by teammate Geoff Sponholtz's 18.

Grant's balanced scoring was led by Nelson Anderson and Mike Ingram with 12 points each and Tim Culotta with 11. Lou Notriano and Steve Richford chipped in nine and eight, respectively.

The Bulldogs' stat sheet had them with a 31-12 rebounding advantage, led by Ingram with nine and Culotta with eight. Notriano passed off for eight assists.

The win kept the Bulldogs within reach of Round Lake, the only team to beat Grant. The Panthers whipped Johnsburg Tuesday to remain undefeated in the NWSC at 4-0.

Grant travels to Wauconda Friday before playing Steinmetz in the first round of the Jacobs Holiday Tourney at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Maple said free-throw shooting and excessive fouls have been the thorns in the Bulldogs' paws thus far.

"Normally, with our inside game — or philosophy

— we normally go to the line more than the opponents. That hasn't happened yet."

Going into the Grayslake game, Culotta (a 16-point average), Ingram (14) and Anderson (11) were the scoring leaders. Ingram was averaging 10 rebounds, while Notriano was averaging close to seven assists.

Ingram, a 6-foot-6 junior, has been impressive. "He's ahead of schedule," Maple said. "He's stepped up to another level of play."

Panthers' versatility shows in romp, rivals loom next

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers
If future Round Lake boys basketball opponents think they can just make sure point guard Scott Ellenwood doesn't hit double-digits in "threes" and have a chance to win, they better think again. Just ask Wauconda. The Bulldogs ran up against Round Lake's inside attack at its best. The result was a 27-6 first-quarter run which turned into an 82-59 Panther rout. The win keeps the Panthers on an even keel with another 2-0 team, neighbor and rival Grayslake.

Wauconda hosts Grant Dec 18. Both the Grayslake-Round Lake and the battle of the Bulldogs clashes are at 7 p.m.

"We started out with some pressure defense in the first quarter and we got some turnovers," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said. "All three post kids, Robert Swanson, Aaron Yazzie and Ben Bass did a good job. We outrebounded them 46-21.

"I was pleased with our rebounding. We stressed that Wednesday and Thursday and it showed," Ward said.

Rebounding was a main focus of the Round Lake practices. Yazzie led the way with 18 rebounds, to go with 18 points. Ben Buchannon had 16 points and Bass added 11.

"Bass is a kid who will have to be a player for us. He is a player who can go inside or outside. I'm happy with his versatility," Ward said.

Vinnie Lira (three points) was given kudos. The Panthers' outside shooting was not exactly hurting. Ellenwood and Buchannon had four "treys" each as Round Lake (4-2 overall, 2-0 NWSC) held an 8-1 lead from long range. Byron Johnson (14 points) had the only three-pointer for the Bulldogs (4-3, 0-2). Phil Sanew led the Wauconda effort, scoring 18 points.

White leads CLC to crown

College of Lake County's men's basketball team will be out to make it a clean four-for-four sweep of tournaments when the Lancers travel to Freeport Dec. 18.

CLC participates in Highland's two-day, eight-team tournament. The Lancers won their third tourney of the year and increased their record ton 9-3 in winning the Waukesha tourney.

CLC is expecting a tough battle when the Lancers take on the College of DuPage in the first round at Highland at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 18.

The highlight at Waukesha was 45 points from Eddie White in the title game against Bethany, Minn.

"He was just sensational. He was three-for-four from three's, made 17-of-20 two's," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said of White.

CLC's defense was another big factor. CLC downed Waukesha Tech 86-80 behind 21 points from Dave Huntington. Huntington, who had 12 points in the title game, was named all-tournament along with White. White led with 18 points against the host team, David Montgomery had 14, Alden Bell 16.

CLC led 41-18 at halftime against Bethany.

"Our defense in the first half of the championship game was extremely good," Smith said. "We went to a matchup zone the last 10 minutes of the first half."

Judges Association is comprised of more than 1,000 state court judges.

Born and raised in Waukegan, Hoogasian attended and graduated from local public schools. He served in the Army Air Corps from 1943 to 1946 before he attended the University of Illinois where he earned a bachelor of science degree in 1950. In 196 he obtained his Juris Doctor degree from John Marshall Law School in Chicago.

In 1980 he was elected circuit judge and has been retained in 1986 and 1992.

"I intend to continue a good relationship among and between judges and lawyers, the Illinois State Bar Assn., the Chicago Bar Assn., and the local Bar associations," he said.

Hoogasian also wants to continue to represent judges and the problems that may arise, such as disciplinary actions and ethics.

Two named to 19th judicial circuit

John T. Phillips of Antioch and Ward S. Arnold of Marengo will be the new associate judges for the 19th judicial circuit, Lake and McHenry counties.

Arnold, a graduate of John Marshall

Law School, he received his undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois. He was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1973 and joined the staff of the McHenry County Public Defender's Office that same year.

Sequoits hope momentum continues

The choices are clear for the Antioch boys basketball team.

Antioch can choose to play the Friday method, represented by a thrilling 58-57 upset win over Warren or the Saturday Method, represented by a 76-51 loss to North Chicago. Or somewhere in between.

The Sequoits (2-5 overall, 1-3 in the North Suburban will have plenty of time to mull their choices, as they do not have another game for 10 days and another league game until 1993.

"I think we are headed in the right direction," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said. "We took a major step forward in the Warren game but then took a step backward against North Chicago. North Chicago was the only game we have been blown out all year."

Junior guard Jeff Woods provided the heroics in overtime against rival Warren, a 10-footer with six seconds left. Antioch then survived a three-pointer by Warren's Ryan Taylor.

"Both teams played defense very well. We just shot the ball extremely well," Dresser said.

Doug Gooch had seven points against Warren, but the two most important were on a basket for a 49-49 tie.

Antioch held its own in rebounding, and sophomore Erick Eckenstahler was a big part of that. He had seven points. "He was very active under the boards," Dresser said.

Woods finished with 28 points, Eric Blaha had 10.

Letter to the Editor

Skyrocketing taxes

Editor:

With property taxes in Lake County now among the highest in the nation, schools and other taxing bodies have finally begun to expand their impact fee programs and seek to have development help pay its fair share. Beginning to see their tax-payer profit subsidy evaporating, developers began to flex their muscles—in Springfield.

Over the last year a bill has been quietly winding its way through the Illinois legislature. Identified as SB1828, this bill, if made law, would effectively kill the ability for municipalities and schools to command land developers to contribute for the economic impact they create. Under this developer-contrived proposal, schools would essentially have to seek approval from the very people from whom they seek to collect impact fees. And then, even when successful, these monies can be used only to purchase land. Now just how many math classes are conducted in a farm field? Every dollar not paid by developers toward constructing new classrooms to teach the students living in these new homes will be paid by property owners.

Never before have state and federal funds been more scarce. Never have property taxes risen so dramatically. Even so, the rampant overdevelopment which continues within the county exerts increasingly more pressure upon schools and other service districts. The growth without adequate impact fees is out-pacing the need for revenue and will continue to increase taxes even more radically.

If you are now a homeowner in Lake County, unless you think your taxes are too low, you are strongly encouraged to write Governor Edgar today and express your concern over this developer-generated legislation of self-service and disdain for the well-being of the residents here. Demand the Governor's veto should this legislation pass the legislature which is comprised of too many people put in office with the backing of developer funding. Act now as your property taxes depend on it.

Address your letter to: Governor James Edgar, State of Illinois, Office of the Governor, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

really care about the last qualification. All they want is someone with the first three, so they don't have to work and can sit around all day and have babies. Rough life!

What's Your Resolution?

It's that time of year when we reflect on the past year and figure out what we've done wrong or right. We also make New Year's resolutions. My New Year's resolution is to stop smoking. What's your resolution? Am I the only one who still does these kind of things?

Give To Salvation Army

Hello. I'm from Vernon Hills. I don't have much of a complaint, it's more of an observation. It appears that people shopping at Hawthorn Mall seem to do a better job ignoring the Salvation Army bell ringers than other people at other malls. Having been to Gurnee Mills Wal-Mart, Hawthorn Mall and two other malls, I've seen more people give money than those at Hawthorn Mall. 'Tis the season to give, ladies and gentlemen. Why don't you get out your crowbar and open up your wallets and purses, and give some money to the Salvation Army?

Intelligence Is Missing

What's the deal with the "Construction Ahead" sign, south of Rollins Road on Cedar Lake Road. You're given about 10 feet to merge before hitting the sign. The road crew that put up the sign must have the collective IQ of a brick.

Where Do I Ski?

I'm from Mundelein and I want to know where there is cross country skiing available in Lake County. Could somebody help me out before the end of the year? I have friends coming over who would like to cross country ski during the New Year holiday. Please call.

Racists In Libertyville

This call comes from Libertyville. I am appalled that I now live in a town where racial tensions are becoming significantly worse. I moved to Libertyville to escape that problem. Where is there to live without racial tension? The KKK individuals at the high had better be brought to court by somebody. This is not a matter of free speech; it is a matter of hate crime. These individuals should be punished by the courts! Does anyone agree?

Which Is Worse?

Don't forget Hainesville? How could we remember it? I'm responding to last week's article titled "Don't Forget Hainesville." The caller said that Hainesville is also a "part" of the Round Lake area. I don't know which is worse, Hainesville being a part of Round Lake or Round Lake being a part of Hainesville. There's nothing in Hainesville except a defunct and unsightly motel, a police radar trap and a gas station with rude people. If I were you, Round Lake area, don't claim Hainesville!

Overtime To Overpaid?

This is in response to "Pay Overtime." Why would the Round Lake Beach mayor want to pay overtime to his snow removal crew if someone could do it for less. He's looking out for everybody's interest. I take it that you are the wife of some snow removal person who charges $40 per hour overtime to clear the streets. If I lived in Round Lake, I'd be happy that the mayor is opting for alternative snow removal, rather than paying overtime to overpaid city employees.

Stop The Questions II

I'm from Vernon Hills and I agree with the caller who was complaining about the questionnaire people at Hawthorn Mall. Yes, they are a pain in the butt. I avoid shopping at that section of the mall just for that reason. Pass the word and maybe the company that employs those people would move elsewhere or come up with another way to conduct business.

Look At Our Decorations

To the person who called about the Lake Zurich Christmas decorations. If you think your decorations are bad, you should see the ones in Mundelein! Ours are probably worse.

Colin's Bad News

Say goodbye to the financial stability of the Lake County Forest Preserve now that Colin McRae is in charge. I didn't like what he did to Mundelein when he was mayor, and he didn't do much for the county board when he represented us. I can't wait to see what he doesn't do as president of the forest preserve.

Full Steam Ahead

I say full steam ahead for riverboat gambling in Lake County. We've got Great America, Gurnee Mills and now, possibly another attention getter. I don't know how well things are in Iowa and down state with riverboat gambling, but I have a feeling it would do well in Lake County.

Your Trick Falls Short

I don't know what part of the township you live in, but the salt trucks have done a wonderful job in our part of Antioch Twp. Could your comment just be a ploy to turn people against the township supervisor? It was pretty obvious that you were trying to do that. Why don't you get some guts and write a letter to the editor with your name on it and then complain about the Antioch Twp. supervisor. You would get more credence that way.

Merry Christmas, Bob

It's always disappointing to hear this time of year about that crazy activist, or is that atheist, Rob Sherman. While many of us are attempting to spend a nice holiday season with our families, he's got to throw his two cents in and make it miserable for others. Sure, sure, it's that freedom of speech thing, but isn't it ironic that he wants a separation of church and state when it costs the government and us money to make all of the changes he wants? If governments are supposed to be separate from churches, why do local governments have to spend money to alter signs, symbols and slogans? I'm from Mundelein.

Traffic Light Needed

Speaking of stop lights, why don't they put a stop light at the intersection of Lake Street and Rte. 83. That intersection is backed up and nobody can ever turn left onto Rte 83 from Lake Street. I'm one of the most patient people I know, but even I get frustrated at that intersection during the mornings and evenings. Having the God-given intelligence to make decisions for myself, I have changed my route to work. I feel sorry for all those who have yet to do the same. I feel worse for those who will be killed at that intersection. I'm from Grayslake.

THE TIME HAS COME FOR ME TO LEAVE

Dear Friends:

As all of you know, I will no longer be your State Representative after January 13, 1993. For the past ten years it has been a privilege and an honor to represent the people of Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Mundelein, Round Lake, Round Lake Park and Wildwood. I say goodbye with a certain sadness in my heart.

Many of you will now be turning to Andrea Moore for help on your State problems; others will be reaching for Al Salvi. I will be glad to help both of them in every way I can during their first year on the job.

I have not tried to count the number of constituents from your communities who have come to me or phoned my office for help since 1983, the days spent in session at the State Capitol, the bills I have sponsored and passed, the committee meetings I have attended or the chicken dinners I have eaten. I do know though that serving you has brought me in contact with thousands of wonderful people I would never have known otherwise.

I was fortunate to have all of you in my district for the past ten years. You are much better informed about state issues than most people elsewhere in the state. Your priorities in the main are the same as mine. You believe the State should curtail unnecessary spending in order to hold down taxes, encourage job creation in Illinois, provide better schools for our children, build and maintain a good highway system, and provide needed services for those who are poor, frail and elderly.

As I look back at the annual Newsletters I have sent you, it is clear that Illinois has made considerable progress in recent years in dealing with a number of these problems. We have cracked down on drunken drivers, crime and drug abuse, but certainly more remains to be done. We have provided more tax relief in the form of circuit breaker and tax deferral benefits for seniors allowing them to remain in their own homes. We have placed a cap on annual changes in property tax increases to slow down the incessant growth of these taxes. We are doing more to prepare little children for school. We are supplying funds for domestic violence shelters and we have provided incentives for small businesses in Lake County which has resulted in more jobs within our county. Finally, we have established a Lake County Water Agency which now brings Lake Michigan water to a number of communities in central and western Lake Co.

I want to thank all of you for your friendship and trust. I shall miss your letters, your phone calls and talking with you at various civic affairs, but still I know our paths will cross occasionally, as I seek to meet the needs of my district.

Sincerely,

Virginia Fiester Frederick
